STABBED HER SERVANT

Murderous Frenzy of an Enraged Wife.

SHE ALSO ATTACKS HER HUSBAND

The Latter is a Wealthy New York Lawyer, and One of the Upper Four Hundred, of Exclusive Society

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 26.—Mrs. Victoria Hamilton, wife of R. R. Hamilton, to-day murderously assaulted May O'Donnell, a domestic in her employ, with a dagger, inflicting wounds which will probably prove fatal. Mrs. Hamilton was arrested and will be held to await the result of the girl's injuries. Mr. Hamilton is detained as a witness. The cause of the quarrel between the women is not yet known.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—A special to the Inquirer from Atlantic City says: Mrs. Hamilton is the wife of R. R. Hamilton, said to be a son of General Schuyler Hamilton of New York, and a grandson of Alexander Hamilton. The husband was in the room at the time of the stabbing. The whole affair is shrouded in mystery. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton secured and moved into the front suite of rooms on the second floor of a cottage about five weeks ago. They said they lived in New York and had just returned from California. They had a baby and the woman who was stabbed was its nurse. They had every appearance of being wealthy.

Mr. Hamilton is a large, handsome man of apparently 40 years of age, and his wife is a good looking woman several years his junior. He was a lawyer by profession, he said to-day after his arrest, and confessed to possessing an income of $13,000 a year, but beyond that would say nothing that would reveal his identity.

Mrs. Hamilton was, upon the wounded woman's statement, arrested and locked up on a charge of felonious assault, with her husband, to await an investigation.

The woman's wound, it is believed, will be fatal. It was stitched up. It seemed to be inflicted by a dagger driven in with great force, as it passed through her clothing and corset and apparently far into the flesh.

At the hearing Mrs. Hamilton was informed of the charge against her and pleaded not guilty, and 10 o'clock to-morrow was set for further hearing.

Meantime neither the wounded woman nor either of the defendants can be seen by anybody, by order of the authorities, and it makes the clearing up of the mystery all the more difficult.

The wounded woman, who was intoxicated, raved in the most violent manner for an hour or two after she was stabbed. She was heard to say that an old woman who had been calling upon Mrs. Hamilton was not her mother, as she was reputed to be, and that the man who came to see her, pretending to be her brother, was not such a relative at all, and that Mrs. Hamilton was a disreputable woman before she married Hamilton.

She threatened Hamilton with dire vengeance if ever she recovered from her injury. She said to a doctor while her wound was being dressed that Mrs. Hamilton was jealous of her and everybody.

All sorts of stories have been told about the motive for the stabbing. One is to the effect that the woman herself assaulted Hamilton, and that while they attempted to wrest the weapon from her she stabbed herself.

This theory will probably be used by the defence if the woman dies, particularly as Hamilton had evidently struggled with some one. His coat was split up the back and his trousers had a knife cut below the left knee.

He refused to make any explanation as to how his clothes came to be in that condition. When locked up at the station house he was perfectly cool and collected, inquiring if there was any charge against him and if he had to be locked up. He seemed utterly indifferent as to what befell his wife and asked no questions concerning her.

It appears Hamilton married without his father's knowledge, and the latter came on to investigate the character of the woman his son had wedded, and who it now appears was a disreputable woman. This the servant told Hamilton to-day, when a quarrel ensued, during which the wife not only attacked the servant but cut the clothing nearly off her husband.

A party traveling with Mrs. Hamilton as her brother, and known as "Doty," is said to have been her lover.

FURTHER DETAILS

The Causes Leading Up to the Atlantic City Tragedy

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The Herald this morning has a special from Atlantic City giving the following details of the Hamilton tragedy: As the guests were seating themselves about the dining table at a fashionable new cottage on Tennessee avenue and at noon to-day they were startled by the cries of a woman and the smashing of furniture on the second floor. The whole neighborhood heard the cries and a large crowd of excited men and women gathered about the building.

One of the waiters ran to the second floor and had the courage to kick in the door leading to the private apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ray Hamilton of New York, whence the sounds came.

The picture he beheld was a tragic one. A handsome man, very much excited, was in the middle of the elegantly furnished room trying to calm and to hold an enraged woman who was struggling for release. She held a blood stained dagger in her right hand. A good looking Irish woman lay stretched upon the floor in a pool of blood, and a baby 5 months old was lying on the bed. The man was Robert Ray Hamilton, the desperate looking woman was his wife, the infant was their only child, and the victim who lay upon the floor with her intestines hanging from an ugly gash in her abdomen was Mary Donnelly, a wet nurse who had been with the couple for some months.

The woman was still alive, but the doctors who were soon afterwards called in said that there was little hope of her recovery.

The story of the affray and of the people connected with it is a sensational one. Robert Ray Hamilton, who was for eight years a member of the New York legislature from the Murray Hill district, New York City, is a son of General Schuyler Hamilton, one of the leaders of the New York 400, and a great grandson of Alexander Hamilton. He is a member of the New York bar and has a large income, which he spends lavishly upon himself and friends. The story of his courtship and marriage is as remarkable as the story of to-day's tragedy is thrilling.

Hamilton was for many years a lion in New York social circles, but like many of his associates soon became a frequenter of houses of questionable character in the metropolis. In one of these he met and became infatuated with the woman whom he afterwards married, and who is likely at any moment to have the charge of murder entered against her, as her victim, Dr. Crosby says to-night, can live but a few hours longer.

Mrs. Hamilton was for years the most conspicuous adventuress in New York, and it is said that many young bloods spent fortunes on her before she captured Hamilton, it is thought, for his fortune. He is about 37 years of age, and she about ten years his junior, and the hopeless victim of the morphine habit.

About two years ago they were clandestinely married in New York. When this became known he was ostracised by the "400" as well as by his own parents.

After his marriage he lived with his wife at No. 1117 West Fifteenth street, near Broadway. Although an outcast he had his immense fortune beside him, and after standing it as long as possible in New York six months ago took his wife and their child, then two months old, and Mary Donnelly, the nurse, to Southern California, with the intention of locating permanently in the West. He returned disgusted and temporarily took up his residence in Atlantic City.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Hamilton's display of diamonds and gorgeous attire at the shore created a sensation. She was robbed to-night, and the officers of Atlantic City are searching for the thief who stole $2000 worth of diamonds from the room in which the tragedy occurred during the excitement this afternoon. The authorities and pawnbrokers throughout the country have also been notified of the robbery.

The tragedy of to-day, which will probably end in a trial for murder, came about as follows: Joshua Mann, of No. 111 West Fifteenth street, New York, whose mother keeps a house of bad reputation at that address, is an old associate of Mrs. Hamilton. He followed the couple to California and back. A few days ago the husband, who did not know Mann, saw him in Atlantic City, and remembering having seen him in New York and at nearly every point in his six months' travels through the West, kept a close watch on him.

Last night Mann met Mrs. Hamilton at one of the beer gardens here. Hamilton had them watched, but said nothing until to-day, when his wife said she was going to New York city, but would return in a few days. It was then that his indignation and temper overcame him, and grasping her by the neck he said: "You are my wife and will remain. Let Josh Mann take care of himself." The name of Mann called by her husband astonished her. She became desperate, ran to the bureau, picked up a Mexican dagger and made a lunge at her husband. He grappled with her and pushed her over a chair. The nurse, Mary Donnelly, hearing the noise and having had to separate the couple several times before to prevent bloodshed, rushed into the room. The wife no sooner saw her than she darted at her with the dagger, and with the words: "You she devil, you are the cause of this. You will never be about me again," plunged the knife into the woman's abdomen. The poor woman sank to the floor.

Hamilton and his wife are both in custody, and the excitement in Atlantic City to-night over the affair is intense.

Mrs. J. T. Swanton, who formerly kept a questionable house at No. 111 West Fifteenth street, New York, is prominent in connection with the tragedy. She is the mother of Joshua Mann, who is the son of her first husband. She is bent and withered, and talks about the bloody affair with the cold hearted manner of a vice hardened woman. She and her son and daughter are stopping at the Verona house. She claims to have been instrumental in bringing about the marriage of her protege to Hamilton, and since the unholy alliance she and her family have been dependent on his well filled purse.

Justice Irving says late to-night that Mary Donnelly has made a statement in which she partially accuses Mrs. Hamilton of attempting to take her life. The nurse adds that Hamilton is infatuated with the woman who is really his wife, as the marriage certificate is in existence and can be produced readily.

Some startling developments are expected concerning the woman Swinton, which will no doubt include the history of the theft of $3000 of Hamilton's money and other private matters fast coming to the surface.

The life of the Hamiltons here was a continual round of extravagance. Mrs. Hamilton's costumes were elaborate and varied, and her diamonds the envy of the sea shore.

A CLEVER TRAGEDY

How a Thief Secures $665 Upon the Name of Charles S. Bush

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—It has come to light that a swindler victimized the Bank of California out of $665 on a forged check last Saturday. During the rush of business he went to the window of the paying teller, and presenting a check for $665 with the signature of Charles S. Bush, asked to have it certified. The teller compared the signature with that of Bush, and as it was apparently all right the check was certified and handed back. The man took it to the office of a money broker, where he asked to have it cashed, saying that he wanted bills and would have to take coin at the bank. Although the check was made payable to bearer he indorsed it in the name of H. Hunt, broker. The broker readily cashed the check as it was certified, and before noon presented it at the bank and received payment. Soon afterward the endorsement aroused suspicions in the mind of the cashier, and Mr. Bush was sent for. When that gentleman arrived he quickly said that the signature was a clever forgery. So far they have not been able to find any trace of the forger through detectives.

AN ASSASSINATION

A Wealthy Farmer Shot at His Very Door by an Unknown Villain

SANTA ANA, Cal., Aug. 26.—Henry Charles, a wealthy farmer of Capistrano, was shot Saturday night in the abdomen. He ran into the house and said he suspected his stepson, Emilo Loperd. He made his will and died Sunday. The verdict of the coroner's jury last night was that the murderer was unknown. Emilo Loperd was arrested this evening and lodged in jail. He states he had a difficulty with his stepfather in 1879 and has not been on the place since. He says he can prove an alibi.

A WRONG RIGHTED

The Charge of Murder Against Justice Field Dismissed

STOCKTON, Cal., Aug. [illegible].—District Attorney White received the letter to-day from Attorney General Johnson, as already published, and went before Justice Swain with the letter. They agreed that the instructions contained in the letter were binding upon the district attorney, and the charge of murder in the killing of D. S. Terry was dismissed as to Justice Stephen J. Field.

McMillan has only six months more to live, as his physician declared that he must die within that time of consumption, and it is thought that he took the money to go south and die.

A LONE HIGHWAYMAN

The Daring Deeds of "Black Bart" Equaled Yesterday.

BOLD ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP A STAGE

One of the Passengers Uses His Revolver and Volley Returned by the Desperado—Two Men Fatally Wounded

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 26.—The Tribune's special from Ashland, Wis., says that Black Bart's most daring deeds in the mountain passes of California and Colorado were outdone to-day by a lone highwayman who held up and robbed the stage that runs between Gogebic, a station on the Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western railroad just over the line in Michigan, and Gogebic lake, a summer resort where the people from the three cities spend the dog days.

As the stage was running along at a lively gait through the dense forest, when about two miles from the station a man jumped out in front of it, and pointing two big revolvers at the driver commanded him in good old Western style to throw up his hands, at the same time extending the same order to the four passengers inside of the coach, with the further provision that they "shell out" all their loose valuables and currency.

One of the passengers went down into his pocket, but instead of bringing up his pocket book he clinched a pistol in his hand and began firing at the robber. The desperado immediately returned the fire, and although the driver whipped the horses into a mad gallop, his aim was true. B. Mackercher, a bookkeeper in the First National bank of Minneapolis, receiving the first bullet in his cheek, while a second went crashing through his leg. Another passenger, named A. C. Fleischbam, of Belleville, Ills., was mortally wounded. He raised up in his seat as the horses were whipped away just in time to receive a bullet in the hip. He fell forward and pitched over the side of the coach into the roadway. The horses continued on the run and the wounded man was left to take his chances with the robber. The villain threatened at first to kill him, but finally desisted after securing $57 and his victim's watch and chain.

The wounded man lay bleeding in the road for three hours before any one courageous enough to go to his succor was secured. The physicians say that he will not live over night.

Mackercher was taken to Eagle River for treatment and from there to his home at Minneapolis. There are grave doubts as to his recovery.

There were two other passengers on the coach, but neither of them were molested. They were Frank Padden, of 156 Washington street, Chicago, and Robert Rindout, of the Bank of Montreal at Chicago. The party was on a fishing trip and was composed of wealthy men.

The description of the robber tallies to the letter with that of the daring freebooter who went through the Northwestern train near Ellis junction some time ago.

Sheriff Foley, of Bessemer, at once organized a posse of a dozen men, and they have gone out in pursuit. The chances for his capture, however, are very slim.

A GANG OF ROBBERS BROKEN UP

They Had Operated Successfully for Fifteen Years Defying the Law

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 26.—For the past fifteen years a well organized gang of robbers has been operating in the southwestern part of Greene county, Pennsylvania, and the eastern portion of Marshall and Wetzel counties, West Virginia, and during all of that time they have defied successful prosecution. Horses, sheep and swine have been stolen, granaries and even cribs robbed, mills broken open and looted, and stores raided, and every species of farm machinery and other portable property carried off.

The headquarters of the gang was in Pennsylvania, and everything stolen was hurried over the line. Arrests were often made in Greene county, but there were always enough of the rascals to swear their suspected comrades out of trouble.

Saturday last David Garby and Hezekiah Kemble were arrested and taken to Littletongal. There Garby made a confession, extending over a period of fourteen years, and including nearly seventy-five robberies. Four other arrests were made at once, and many others will follow, thoroughly breaking up the gang.

RESISTED LAW OFFICERS

Two Brothers Oppose Arrest. One Killed, the Other Badly Wounded

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 26.—At Tuscumbia to-day City Marshal Gibson killed Dayton Womble. Early in the morning a brother of Womble was drunk and was locked up by the marshal. Dayton Womble came down and went over and took his brother home. The two brothers then armed themselves and came back to town. Mayor Steel ordered the marshal to arrest them, but the Womble boys drew their revolvers and the firing began. When it wound up Dayton Womble was dead and Charles Womble was badly wounded. The marshal's father was present as a special policeman, but was unarmed and took no part, though he had a finger shot off during the fusilade.

A DISHONEST CASHIER

Secures $25,000 of Bank's Money by Means of Forged Notes.

MOUNT GILEAD, O., Aug. 26.—It is supposed that the defalcation of Cashier Robert Halliday, of the First National bank, which closed Saturday, will reach $25,000. Halliday on Friday made a confession to the directors and went away Saturday. For the past five years he has speculated in wheat and oil, using the bank's money, which he secured by means of forged notes.

Spokane Falls Will Build a Magnificent Hotel.

A BOLD BURGLARY AT CHEHALIS

Steam Sawmill Burned—Accident on the River—Fire at Uniontown—Judge Dennison in the Field for Superior Judge

Spokane Falls, W. T., Aug 26—Arrangements were completed here to-day for the immediate building of a large first-class hotel to cost not less than $250,000. The proprietors are Hon A M Cannon, Hon J J Browne and Clough & Graves of this city and Charles H Dodd of Portland. It will be located at the corner of West Riverside avenue and Monroe street running through to Main, and will occupy a commanding position overlooking the falls. This is unquestionably the finest location in the city for a fine first-class hotel and is the site recommended for this purpose by Henry Villard. The structure will be six stories high and will have a frontage 142 feet on Riverside avenue, 158 feet on Monroe street and 150 feet on Main street. A special hotel architect has been written to to draw plans at once. Work will be commenced this week and pushed to speedy completion.

BURGLARY AT CHEHALIS

A Store Entered and Valuables Taken—No Clue to the Perpetrators

Chehalis, Aug 26—Everett & Powers's warehouse store was entered last night and robbed of about $100 worth of pistols, pocket cutlery and razors and $30 in money. The entrance was effected by prying the front door off its hinges, literally tearing them from the wood and taking out the entire door. The money was taken from the till which was cleaned out. All the revolvers in the case were taken, but many good razors and knives were left. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

Republican primaries held throughout the county Saturday were well attended and much interest is felt in the county convention, which is to meet Thursday. There seems to be a unanimous sentiment in favor of Hon J H Long for state senator. G Crosby and Charles Gilchrist of Centralia are mentioned for representatives from the north side, and E P McClure and Mr Meickle from the south.

Ex Judge Wingard now of Olympia is here looking after his nomination for superior judge. The other aspirants are Moody, of Montesano, Root, Robinson and Porter, of Olympia, and Yoder of Chehalis.

STEAM SAWMILL BURNED

Jennings & McPherson's Loss—The Second Time in a Few Months.

Albany, Or, Aug 26—A dispatch from Lebanon states that the steam sawmill owned by Jennings & McPherson twelve miles above that place, burned down yesterday morning; loss, $2000—no insurance. The same company's mill burned a few months ago, but was rebuilt, and will now be rebuilt the second time.

ACCIDENT ON THE RIVER.

Damage Done by the Swell of the Steamer T. J. Potter

Astoria, Or, Aug 26.—At 11 o'clock last night the government steamer, Cascades of the Columbia, towing three stone barges from Fisher's landing to this city was abreast of Kalama and the steamers Potter, Lurline, Thompson and Telephone, in the order named, were coming along from Astoria. The swell from the Potter smashed the guards and a portion of the bow of the steamer Cascades of the Columbia, broke the towing post, four planks and three deck timbers of a barge. Captain W H Whitcomb has repeatedly requested the passenger steamers to slow down when passing him. The Telephone has always complied with this request. Unless they all do so serious damage may some night result.

FIRE AT UNIONTOWN

Prompt Work of the Citizens Prevent a Serious Conflagration

Uniontown, W T, Aug 26—A fire started in the two buildings south of Herman Bros' hardware store at 1 o'clock this morning and consumed the building the upstairs of which was the telephone office. The stock was partially saved. Loss $3000, insurance $200.

The city has been contemplating putting in a system of water works for some time but owing to a rush of work it was postponed. By the prompt work of the citizens a serious conflagration was prevented.

EX-CHIEF JUSTICE DENNISON.

Candidate for Superior Judge in Clarke, Cowlitz, Wahkiakum and Pacific Counties.

Vancouver, W T, Aug 26.—A canvass of the delegation from this county shows that ex-Chief Justice Dennison will have a number of votes from Clarke. Advices from Cowlitz, Wahkiakum and Pacific indicate he will have a solid delegation from those counties. If Judge Dennison is nominated by the republican party it is probable there will be no man put in the field by the democracy for superior judge.

Northern Pacific Officials Readjusting Local Rates

Tacoma, Aug. 26—David Weatherby, a Canadian, who came here a year ago from Montesano was to-day adjudged insane and sent to Steilacoom. Weatherby believed that four persons had been murdered in his house and was correspondingly indignant. He was very violent and had to be ironed on his way.

SAVED BY A MATCHBOX

It Wards Off a Bullet and Prevents a Murder.

Seattle, Aug 26—J E Bergess, a bartender, and J Nickum, a contractor, engaged in a row in a tent on Yesler avenue this afternoon and Bergess drew a 38 caliber revolver, and holding it close to Nickum's left vest pocket fired. The bullet struck a silver match box, denting it, and dropped on the floor. Nickum fell groaning terribly. Bergess was arrested and taken to jail and a physician summoned who found that Nickum was hardly scratched. The quarrel was over a small sum of money which Nickum had been holding. Bergess is a brother of Warren Bergess, a prize fighter well known in Portland. Nickum has a wife and child in Portland where he inherited and squandered a fortune a few years ago.

CHINESE INDEMNITY

Some Big Claims From Oregon and Washington Mongolians

San Francisco, Aug 26—Claims against the Chinese consul general for unpaid indemnities are accumulating. It is stated suits will be commenced Wednesday against the consul general in behalf of Twin Wo Charley and Wong Chung, sufferers from mob violence in Washington territory and Oregon, who respectively claim that $23 000 and $11 000 are due them in reparation for losses of business and effects.

The claim of Twin Wo Charley dates from November 3, 1885 when a mob of white men drove a large number of the Chinese of Tacoma out of town. Charley chartered a Northern Pacific train and took 550 men to Portland at an expense of $71 000. The fare of 204 men, amounting to $4627, was paid by Charley. He was a contractor on the Northern Pacific and he lost his store, section houses and camps and was compelled to lose his contract with the Northern Pacific Company because his men were driven from the country. For these losses he claimed $23,277 indemnity.

Wong Chung has a claim for $11,132 as indemnity for losing his boarding house at Oregon City by a mob on February 21, 1886.

EXCEEDINGLY HEAVY LOSSES

Partially Covered by Insurance—Large Quantities of Grain Destroyed—Much of It Owned by Farmers

Port Costa, Cal, Aug 26—About 4 this morning fire destroyed G. W. McNear's warehouse here containing several thousand tons of wheat. The fire spread to the adjacent wharves and three sailing vessels—the Kenilworth, Honauwar and Armenia, which were moored at the wharf, were also destroyed. The property loss will aggregate $400 000 with insurance [illegible].

The fire started in the engine room of the warehouse. The Armenia was a wooden ship and the Kenilworth and Honauwar British iron vessels. The Armenia had on board 300 tons of wheat, the Honauwar 800 and the Kenilworth 2000 tons.

The vessels were insured in foreign offices and the cargoes in San Francisco.

In all about 11 000 tons of wheat were destroyed, valued at [illegible]. The marine loss on the wheat on board the vessels aggregates $132 000. The Armenia was valued at $40 000, the Honauwar at $50 000 and the Kenilworth at $100 000.

Much of the wheat stored in the warehouses belonged to the farmers and was uninsured. Forty two freight cars of the Southern Pacific company loaded with wheat were on the track near the warehouse and were also burned.

THE IRRIGATION COMMITTEE

Interesting Reports Made at the Session in San Francisco Yesterday

San Francisco, Aug 26—The senate committee on the irrigation and reclamation of the arid lands which arrived Saturday from Reno, Nev, held a meeting at the Board of Trade rooms this afternoon.

Senators Stewart and Jones, Major Powell of the geological survey and Colonel Hinton of the corps of engineers represented the committee, while prominent men from Arizona, Nevada and all parts of California were present.

Senator Stanford and Congressman Morrow sat with the committee.

Senator Stewart called the committee to order and said that he would listen to the statements of those gentlemen who had prepared reports upon the subject of irrigation for the State Board of Trade.

Hon W M Estee, one of the board's committee, presented a report and introduced ex State Engineer Hall, who entered into a history of irrigation in this state and submitted his own report on the subject.

From 1880 to 1883 irrigation had advanced the value of lands, he said, in many cases from practically nothing to $500 and $1000 an acre. By crude methods the farmers had irrigated their lands at a cost of $2 an acre, while by the better methods of corporations the cost was from $2 50 to $10 an acre.

Engineer Hall drew attention to the large amount of land in San Diego and San Bernardino counties that could be irrigated by diverting the waters of the Colorado river. This was a work of too great magnitude however for private enterprise. A great deal of water was wasted in this state, he said, because of poorly constructed ditches.

W S Green of Colusa said that irrigation had proved a great success in Colusa county, largely increasing the wheat output. He denied the statement that irrigation was, of itself, responsible for malaria.

George S Morrell, of Fresno, said that certain lands in Fresno which in 1870 were assessed at from $1 to $4 an acre in 1888 were assessed at from [illegible] to [illegible] an acre.

L M Holt of Riverside gave statistics concerning the amount of water furnished by the Southern California water companies and the amount required for irrigation purposes in the different districts. He said that some of the land around Riverside produced crops that had brought $1100 for the product of an acre and a quarter. He then explained the peculiar formation of the artesian belt in San Bernardino county.

Dr Blowers of Woodland said that if Clear lake in Lake county could be used for a reservoir 200 000 more acres could be brought under cultivation than by the present system.

Professor E W Hilgard of the State University, said he had made extensive examinations of the soils of the state and had yet to find any that could not be reclaimed by irrigation. The Mojave and Colorado deserts came within this statement, and the only question was a water supply. Other speakers followed and the meeting adjourned.

A CHANGE OF PROGRAMME

San Francisco, Aug 26.—The programme of the movements of the senate committee on irrigation has been somewhat changed from that previously announced. The committee will remain here until Friday, leaving here by special train on that day, and will reach Los Angeles Saturday night. They go to San Diego Monday morning, returning to Riverside Tuesday. On Wednesday the committee will go to Phœnix, A. T.

THE CRUISER CHARLESTON

Her Arrival in the San Francisco Harbor—Creditable Performance.

San Francisco, Aug 26—The cruiser Charleston arrived here from San Pedro on her return from her trial trip at 8 30 this morning, having made an average speed of thirteen knots all the way from the southern coast.

She was given several tests as to her turning qualities yesterday. The hydraulic steering apparatus was used and a full circle was completed in a trifle less than seven minutes. Six men were stationed at the hand steering gear, and the helm was thrown hard over in four and a quarter minutes. Twelve men accomplished the same thing in two and a quarter minutes. A full circle was turned in eight and a half minutes. On the reversing test the cruiser was stopped from full speed ahead in thirty five seconds and was backing astern at a good speed in two and a half minutes.

When the Charleston entered the harbor this morning she was decorated with brooms and bunting, and the figures 19½, representing the highest rate of speed claimed during the preliminary trial last Wednesday, were painted on the smokestack and several other places on the ship. All the steam whistles in the harbor were blowing as the cruiser moved along to her moorings and the Charleston responded all the time with her fog signal.

IMPORTANT MINING DECISION

The Line Drawn Between Mineral and Agricultural Land.

Sacramento, Aug 26—The commissioner of the general land office at Washington has reversed the decision of the register of the land office of the Sacramento district, who decided in 1887 that 160 acres of land near Michigan Bar, which had been filed upon by James Gallagly as agricultural land, was mineral land. The commissioner holds that the land is agricultural, as the deposit of minerals is so poor that it had never paid to work as mining ground.

This ruling tends to show that under the slickens decision mining land capable of being washed only by hydraulic process will make it difficult in the future to have it patented.

SUIT AGAINST SHARON'S ESTATE

Over Half a Million Claimed as Overpaid by the Ralston Estate.

San Francisco, Aug 26—Mrs Leonie Burling has begun suit against the Sharon estate to compel the return of $573 017 which she claims was paid by her husband to Sharon to settle the debts of W C Ralston. Ralston borrowed money from the Odd Fellows bank on notes given by Burling and gave as collateral security Bank of California stock. Sharon claimed this stock was an over issue and illegal and also that Ralston was indebted to him. Mrs Burling claims Ralston was the legal owner of the stock and that instead of Ralston being indebted to Sharon the reverse was the case. The ownership of the Palace hotel is involved in the suit. Mrs Burling claims that the Ralston estate is entitled to one half of that property. In addition she asks that the court declare Ralston's estate solvent.

DOWN AN EMBANKMENT

A Passenger Train Loaded With Veterans is Wrecked

ABOUT FIFTY PERSONS INJURED

Three of the Victims Have Died of Their Injuries and Others Are Not Expected to Live—Another Casualty

Streator, Ill, Aug 26—A vestibule train on the Santa Fe route running between Kansas City and Chicago met with a serious accident at Kinsman, fifteen miles north of here, this morning. The train was heavily loaded with Grand Army veterans and their friends bound for the Milwaukee encampment.

The accident was caused by the spreading of the rails. Two Pullman sleepers and a dining car were thrown from the track down a steep embankment, forty feet. Word was telegraphed here and a special train was sent out with a dozen surgeons. Those most seriously injured were brought to this city and taken to a hospital where their wounds were attended to.

In all probability fifty persons were hurt. Although none were killed outright many of them are in a very dangerous condition. The majority it is feared will die.

Three of the injured are reported to have since died, one of the three being Mrs Grace Peters of Emporia, Kas. Exact information is hard to obtain owing to the extreme reticence of the railroad company.

The accident was caused by a chair car which was the third behind the engine jumping the track. It was ditched instantly, taking with it the three sleepers behind. A rail was found projecting through the bottom of the chair car.

The car was full of passengers and when it left the track the scenes were exciting in the extreme. The train was running at a high rate of speed.

The track where the derailment occurred is understood to have been in a poor condition. It is believed that if the train had been of an ordinary pattern instead of vestibuled the loss of life would have been frightful.

A BLOODY NEGRO RIOT

An Arkansas Jubilee Becomes a Scene of Carnage.

THERE WAS TOO MUCH WHISKY

The Women Scattered in Terror While the Infuriated Men Fought to the Death—Particulars Not Yet Learned

Little Rock, Ark, Aug 26—The Gazette to-morrow morning will print the following information received this city yesterday of a terrible negro riot at Jordan's Rock, not far from Lockesburg, Sevier county, resulting in the death of several and the wounding of many others.

Jordan's Rock is a small town situated on the edge of an immense tract of pine timber, many miles from the nearest telegraph office. For some time the negroes of that county have been spending their Saturday nights in jubilee ceremonies in the woods near town, and last Saturday night was set as the time for an especially large and uproarious gathering. A great quantity of whisky was introduced, people coming from all over the county to participate in the hurrah.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the trouble began in a quarrel between Joe Jordon and William Newcomb and it ended in Newcomb's shooting Jordon in the breast with a load of buck shot. The wounded man was carried into the woods and while the fighting was still going on he died from his wounds.

Meanwhile the utmost confusion and uproar prevailed. The women scattered to get out of the way, and the men fired at each other in drunken fury without knowing whom they were shooting at.

In the clamor that resulted it was impossible to secure the names of all the wounded and injured, but it is known that several are fatally hurt while others are seriously wounded. Frank Holt is known to be dead with four bullets in his body, while Anderson Neeley near him shot three times. These two men met in the darkness and promptly began a battle with their pistols, killing each other.

As soon as the news reached Lockesburg a posse of white men started for the scene of the disturbance, but the contestants had all disappeared when they arrived. The grounds were in great disorder however and the objects presented to the sight bore evidence of a terrible struggle.

THE WHEAT CROP OF THE WORLD

It Is About Twelve Million Bushels Less Than Last Year

New York, Aug 26—Estimates thus far made of the domestic wheat crop has been found to be too small and the total is now estimated at from 485 000 000 to 500 000 000 bushels. A recent estimate of increased and of decreased quantities of wheat grown this year compared with that last year is as follows. Increases—United States 82 000 000, Canada 8 000 000, England and France, 30 000 000, and in Italy, Spain, Belgium, Holland and Algeria 32 000 000 bushels; total 154 000 000 bushels. Decreases—Russia 72 000 000; Hungary 30 000 000, Roumania, 8 000 000, Germany 8 000 000, India 18 000 000 and in Argentine Republic, Australia and Chile [illegible] bushels; total 166 000 000 bushels. This if verified will point to a decreased output of about 12 000 000 bushels in the countries named, which if true should be construed, taking the year through, in favor of the United States, as they have grown over 80 000 000 bushels more wheat than a year ago and at least 45 000 000 more for export even after supplying all deficiencies in reserves.

Stock speculation is disturbed and prices are irregular under fear of financial stringency and possibility of Western rate troubles. The underlying tone of the market is hopeful on the crop situation, but the tendency is to await developments in connection with the money market.

A MATRICIDE'S PLOT

Discovery of a Scheme to Blow Up a State's Prison

Jackson, Mich, Aug 26—A sensation has been unearthed at the state prison. The matricide Irving Latimer, whose crime and trial attracted such wide spread attention, was detected in a plot to blow up the prison and a quantity of explosives was found in the prison wall. Latimer was locked in a solitary dungeon at once on the discovery of the plot.

For six weeks past the warden has suspected that Latimer was at the head of some scheme and he has been watched closely. Last Friday a chore man was detected in getting a package near the north wall which had been thrown over by outsiders during the night. A watchman got the package. It contained a quantity of hercules powder.

Warden Hatch has refused to state the details and wants to keep the matter quiet so that he may catch Latimer's outside accomplice, and will not state what Latimer says about it.

From reliable sources it is learned that some of the old prisoners have made use of Latimer's money and secured outside influence to execute the scheme, which would, if entirely successful, have partly destroyed the prison and let 800 convicts loose.

INGERSOLL ON SEAVER.

Tribute to the Memory of the Veteran Editor of the Investigator.

Boston, Aug 26—Colonel Robert G Ingersoll delivered the funeral address yesterday over the remains of Horace Seaver, the theist, and veteran editor of the Boston Investigator. Colonel Ingersoll said:

"Horace Seaver was a pioneer, a torch-bearer, a toiler in that great field we call the world. He was a worker for his fellow men. At the end of his task he has fallen asleep and we are met to tell the story of his long and useful life, to pay a tribute to his work and worth. He was one who saw the dawn while others lived in the night. He kept his face towards the far East and watched the coming of a blessed day. He was always kind and sought to win the confidence of men by sympathy and love. There was no taint or touch of malice in his blood. The religion of his day filled his heart with horror. He could not bow to one who slew with famine, sword and fire; to one pitiless as a pestilence, relentless as a lightning stroke. Horace Seaver followed the light of his brain, the impulse of his heart."

TRAMPS SOLD AT AUCTION

They Must Work on a Farm for Four Months

Kansas City, Aug 26—The Journal's Moberly special says: Four tramps were arrested here for vagrancy and put up at public auction to-day. The sale had been duly advertised according to law and there was a large crowd present. The bidding was not very spirited. Two of the tramps went to farmers for $2 a head, and another was bid in for seventy five cents. The fourth tramp could find no purchaser and was returned to jail. The three who were sold must serve their purchasers for four months.

CAUGHT BY A FALLING TREE

Accidental Death of a Yale Sophomore in Washington Territory.

New Haven, Conn, Aug 26.—A private letter from Washington territory announces the accidental death of James A Parmore, of Louis, aged 18; he was a Yale graduate. Parmore with his mother, two brothers and their wives, had been on a trip to Alaska. On their way back they stopped at Hot Springs, Washington territory, to visit a lumber camp. The party went into the woods, leaving James sitting on a stump. While they were absent he was caught under a falling tree and his body was horribly mangled.

THE CRONIN CASES

Coughlin, Burke, Beggs, Kunze and P. O. Sullivan Brought to Trial.

Chicago, Aug 26—The cases of Coughlin, Burke, Beggs, Kunze and P O Sullivan, charged with complicity in the murder of Dr. Cronin, on the 4th of last May, came to trial this morning, and at the opening of the court, States Attorney Longnecker stated that three of the defendants would ask for separate trials.

The attorney for John Kunze asked for a separate trial, and read a long affidavit in which Kunze stated that he never knew Dr. Cronin during the latter's life-time. He declared that he was entirely innocent of any murder complicity or knowledge of murder.

The counsel for Detective Coughlin read a long affidavit, saying that if his client was tried with the other defendants it would involve the introduction of testimony which, while inapplicable to Coughlin, would, nevertheless, prejudice his case. Counsel then read an affidavit by Coughlin himself asserting his innocence of complicity in the crime.

Counsel for Patrick O Sullivan next read an affidavit by his client asserting that certain evidence to be introduced against others of the defendants would be prejudicial to his case, also asserting his innocence of the crime charged.

Similar affidavits for separate trials were filed in behalf of Patrick Sullivan, Martin Burke and Frank Woodruff. The hearing was then adjourned till Wednesday.

HORRIBLE TREATMENT.

Another Chapter of the "Post-Dispatch's" Army Exposure.

St Louis, Aug 26.—The Post-Dispatch prints another chapter of its army exposure. It shows a terrible state of affairs at Jefferson Barracks, alleging that the recruits are treated like dogs. Men are strung up by the wrists until they swoon from weakness, and the brutal sergeants deem no cruelty too severe.

It relates how an insane man was heartlessly tortured.

Common soldiers are imprisoned at the whim of their superiors, and it is also charged in the expose that in the guard house, where the prisoners are packed into an inclosure twenty by forty feet, the sanitary condition is terrible.

THAT EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS.

The President Says He Has Not Yet Determined to Call One

Deer Park, Md, Aug 26.—President Harrison was seen this evening at his cottage by an Associated Press representative. The president says that he has made no announcement to any one as to the calling of an extra session of congress. He said he had, of course, discussed the pros and cons of the matter with various persons. However, it is understood that the question is not determined.

A Glass and Crockery Trust.

New York, Aug 26—The manufacturers of window glass, table glass and crockery have formed a trust.

To-day Mr. Fitzpatrick, of the firm of J Fitzpatrick & Co, manufacturers of window glass, said: "A trust has been formed called the United Glass Company. They have bought up ten of the principal plants in New York state and Ohio, but I don't think Western manufacturers will join the association. The object in forming the trust is to save expense, make more profits and cheapen the price of the goods. It is considered that the new trust will be the salvation of many small plants that otherwise would have been obliged to close up."

HOSE TEAM MATTER

Terry moved that the sum of $[illegible] be appropriated out of the fire fund to assist in defraying the expense of the hose team that will go to [illegible] to take part in the contests on the 14th of September This motion was seconded by Murphy who made quite an argument in favor of the appropriation He remarked that the young men who compose the fire department are to be encouraged in their efforts to excel Other cities are appropriating money for this purpose and East Portland should do her duty by her firemen

Lewis said he agreed with Murphy but the funds were short and much money had already been expended in preparing a place for keeping the horses that had just been purchased and in making repairs At any rate he thought it best to let the matter go over until the next regular meeting

This view was concurred in by the majority and the motion was lost for the present at least Adjourned

THE PORTLAND CABLE RAILWAY

Return of Manager Lynch—Material—The Work to Be Pushed

Mr G W Lynch general manager of the Portland Cable Railway Company returned yesterday from a three weeks trip to San Francisco in the interests of the company

Work on the cable road has been delayed on account of failure of material to arrive The San Francisco parties who contracted to supply the rails and slot iron sublet the contract to mills at Johnstown, which were destroyed by the great disaster there and this caused the delay in the delivery of the material For some time the company waited under the impression that the material was coming from the East, but finding it was not, Mr Lynch entered into negotiations with the Eastern contractors for the cancellation of their contract He also made arrangements with San Francisco parties for slot and rail for immediate use, as there is a lot of other material on hand which cannot be used without it

He is promised 1250 feet of slot and rail this week, which will enable work to be resumed on the hill the first of next week and carried to completion and the line will be finished to the foot of the trestle in about two weeks The result of his mission was very satisfactory to the company Mr Lynch is glad to get back to Oregon He has lived in San Francisco most of the time for the past twenty five years and always returned to it with pleasure but after spending a summer here he left San Francisco with pleasure and like all who reside here a while, has come to the conclusion that there is no place like Oregon

Hannigan arrived here last Friday and presented his coupon good for a ride on the Southern Pacific from this city to San Francisco to Mr Battelle asking for the rebate Mr Battelle then inquired where his rebate order was Hannigan threw a small sealed envelope on the counter which the ticket agent opened The order contained therein read that it must be presented on or before the 19th instant otherwise it would become valueless Hannigan was four days late in presenting the order, and Mr Battelle so told him The envelope was addressed to Peebles & Son and Hannigan sought them telling them that the Southern Pacific would not allow the rebate, with the above result

AGAINST THE INDEMNITY FUND

The Suits Brought for Damages Sustained in the Chinese Riots

The Chinese contractor of this city Moy Back Hing reported in the dispatches yesterday as having sued the Chinese consul in San Francisco for $24 000 is the Yamhill street merchant known here as Charley Twin Wo He has a claim against the indemnity fund paid by the government for $10 000 for losses by the riot at Seattle Wong Chung of Oregon City also has a claim of $10 000 on account of the Chinese being deported from Oregon City Probably Charley and Wong Chung have consolidated their claims and with interest made them up to $24 000 The Chinese consul paid off the claimants for damages by the Tacoma riot at the rate of 70 cents on the dollar, retaining the other 30 cents for expenses Just why he did not pay Twin Wo and Wong Chung is not known

In regard to the liability of the consul to lose his head Seid Back says if he has been improperly retaining the thirty per cent for expenses off will go his head but if this was done on the square he may retain his head The whole amount of indemnity paid by the government was over $[illegible] 000 so if the consul got away with thirty per cent his share would be over $80 000 Some claims for damages were not preferred by the consul among them that of the fellow whose house out on the St Helen's road burned during the anti Chinese excitement here

ROLLING STREETS GOOD AND SOLID

Some of the Contractors Are Having a Hard Time of It

Street contractors are having a hard time of it getting the streets they improve rolled to suit the street committee and the street commissioner Yesterday a street was not accepted because it was not rolled solid enough and the contractor was obliged to continue the rolling Several instances of this kind have occurred lately and contractors begin to think it is about time the city was furnishing some street rolling engine which can do the work more effectually The roller furnished by the city only rolls with a pressure of 200 pounds to the square inch which will not make a street capable of bearing up trucks loaded with four or five tons the wheels of which give a pressure of 1000 pounds to the square inch It takes a great deal of rolling with the present roller to give a good surface to a street and to roll the street with it as a street should be rolled is impossible

A FIRE BOAT, THE CITY WILL HAVE

So Says Councilman Farrel—No Committee Yet Appointed From East Portland

In reply to the question "What has been done by the committee appointed by the city council to confer with similar committees from Albina and East Portland in regard to the much talked of and more needed fire boat?" Councilman S Farrell, one of the committee, yesterday stated that they were waiting for the committees from Albina and East Portland The mayor of Albina, I understand said Mr Farrell "has already appointed a committee In East Portland they have made several unsuccessful attempts to get a quorum in the council meeting, and no committee has as yet, been appointed We will get together as soon as possible and consider the project to which there can be but one outcome The matter is an important one and the result will be that we will have a fire boat. This can be the only issue to our deliberations and you can safely put it down that the city will have it"

Chief Morgan states that he has been looking up different plans for a fire boat as he feels confident that the joint committee will decide to have one built at once

MUNICIPAL COURT DOINGS

The Usual List of Drunks—Bradley Held to Answer—Quarrel Between Two Women

The usual assemblage of drunks faced Judge Tanner in the police court yesterday afternoon Their cases were disposed of as follows

Mike Kelly William Hannigan, John McGinty John Whittacar Mat Casey John Sullivan Moses Booth, P McGetrick J H Simmons and John Shetland fined $5 each John Aiken Peter Dalton and Tom O Dea $10 each

William Burke charged with using abusive language to William Graney was fined $10 Miss Gabrielle forfeited $10 bail which she had put up for her appearance on a charge of soliciting on the public streets

Percy Shields who was arrested on a charge of assaulting one John Corder with a rock was discharged It was admitted that he was one of a gang of hoodlums who threw the rock but no proof could be furnished that he was guilty of the particular act charged in the complaint

Joseph Humlin, the man charged with stealing a $[illegible] watch from the pawnbroker J Bock, will have an examination this afternoon

After reviewing the testimony in the case of W Osgood Bradley charged with enticing Minnie Schrader a female under the age of sixteen years away from her home for illicit purposes, Judge Tanner held the defendant to appear before the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $500 The decision was principally based on the evidence adduced showing that Bradley ordered the younger sister to go home

A SWEET EMBROGLIO

The case of Mrs B Neuman charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on Miss Olga Stenke was interesting for the reason that one or the other of the women must have the most sublime disregard for the truth Their testimony was as contradictory as it well could be

Miss Stenke, a prepossessing German lady who speaks English very imperfectly, testified that she was sewing on a machine, when the defendant entered the room and pointed a revolver at her breast "I was so scared," she said "that I could only scream My sister was a little ways from me washing dishes and my brother was sleeping in the next room My mother was also very sick up stairs at the time When my brother came in Mrs Neuman took leave I do not remember whether Mrs Neuman said anything when she came in or not for I was so excited I have no idea why she should come in to threaten me with a revolver What provocation she had I don t know"

When Mrs. Neuman took the stand she told a far different story She denied having had any weapon whatever or making any threats

"My little boy was sick" said she "and at his request I went to Miss Stenke to ask her to please make less noise She lives next door to us and has a habit of singing while working at the machine which is very annoying to my sick boy I had no weapon in my hand and asked her very kindly to desist from making so much noise She jumped up and with an oath pushed me from her I then saw her brother come out of his room in decidedly dishabille attire and the sight of him so scared me that I made a hasty exit Miss Stenke has been annoying me continuously by making faces at me When my husband was dying, she used to go out in her back yard and sing When the leaves Begin to Fall—just out of spite I presume"

In the absence of Miss Stenke's brother and sister important witnesses, the case was continued until this afternoon

HILLSBORO'S NEEDS

A Correspondent Finds That the Place Is In Want of Thirteen Things

THE OREGONIAN'S correspondent at Hillsboro sends in the following

Some (as yet unknown) party or parties have purchased the Fairview addition to Hillsboro or rather the unsold portion of it and the lots have gone up surprisingly fast in price There is some scheme on foot and speculation is rife regarding it

This thriving little town is in need of several things Following will be found some of them

A fruit cannery

A furniture factory

One or two woolen mills

A good nursery for trees and plants

An energetic board of trade

One or two first class gardeners

A first class bakery and confectionery store

A sash and door factory There is plenty of good cedar north of town

A new highly graded public school

The Astoria Railway—must have it

A motor line to Portland

Some Portland residents to make their homes here, and a railway that will run trains out of here at 7 30 A M daily and leave Portland at about 5 P M

Hillsboro needs fewer "mossbacks" The country is too good for their retarding influence

The town actually needs the above and offers good inducements

THREE MAD DRUMMERS

DOUGLASS AND HAYTI

He Is Ready to Go but the Department Is Not Ready

WASHINGTON Aug 26—A rumor was printed here that owing to an objection in Hayti to having a black man as minister President Harrison has decided to withdraw the appointment of Fred Douglass This is denied at the state department but it is said Douglass will probably be sent until Hippolyte asks for recognition Douglass called upon Acting Secretary Wharton of the state department to day, and announced his readiness to leave for his post but Wharton stated the department was not yet ready to send him

Douglass called upon Acting Secretary of State Wharton this morning and had a conference with him upon Haytian affairs It was decided that it would not be proper to send a new minister to Hayti until some form of government had been established No objections to Douglass's appointment have reached the state department, for the reason that as there has been no local government there was no one to make objection Minister Preston for nearly a year past has not been recognized as the representative of any government in Hayti, and he could convey no intimation to this government that Douglass was objectionable It is, of course true that Douglass's attitude regarding annexation during Grant's administration is likely to make his welcome in Hayti rather cool, but it is doubtful if it becomes a question of international controversy Douglass said to day that he had accepted the place and would go to Hayti as soon as a stable government had been established there

GRANT'S REMAINS

A Plea for Their Removal From New York to Washington

WASHINGTON Aug 26—The Post to morrow will print an article urging that the remains of General Grant should be removed to the national capital

In the course of the article it says "The people were reconciled to the burial of General Grant at Riverside simply because of the assurance and pledge of New York that a monument to his remembrance and of surpassing grandeur should be erected there The assurance and pledge have come to naught and the solemnly promised monument is but an imagination of the remote and shadowy future Hence regret has become indignation, and what was at first a tacit assent on certain conditions that remain wholly unfulfilled, is converted into a vigorous and growing demand for the removal of the remains from the place where they repose but to be dishonored The plea that the fame of Grant is for all time is no excuse that it should take all time to build his monument The country should wait no longer upon the sordid and slow pace motions of New York It should proceed at once to do other and greater than any other monumental duty that of re interring the body of the illustrious soldier upon the shores of the Potomac"

The Post urges that the Grand Army at the present encampment should take up the matter and says that congress could not say nay to such a reasonable request, based upon high and patriotic motives

THE PROPOSED CRUISERS

Modifications in the Requirements the Result Expected

WASHINGTON Aug 26—Acting Secretary Walker is confident that as a result of the modification of the requirements in the case of the 2000-ton cruisers, there will be many proposals and that the department will secure bids within the $700 000 limit fixed by law The minimum speed required to be made has been diminished from 18 knots to 17 knots As the designs of the hulls and machinery were based upon 18 knots, with more than a possibility of 18½ knots there will be a good opportunity for a contractor to net $100 000 bonus on each ship if the designs were properly drawn Just what can be done in the case of the two 4000 ton ships has not yet been determined The minimum speed limits cannot be reduced as in the case of the 2000 ton vessels, for the reason that congress has fixed it at nineteen knots in the appropriation act There is a strong desire on the part of ship builders to have the four hour trial now required reduced to one, or at most two hours and by making some concessions in this respect the department may be able to advertise for proposals with successful results

THE SITUATION IN HAYTI

An Official Cablegram to the State Department.

THE SEA OF SEALS.

The "London Times" on the Seizure of Poaching Vessels

Great Britain Cannot Acquiesce in the Claim of a "Closed Sea"

From the London Times

The seizure of the Black Diamond by the United States revenue cruiser Rush in Behring sea is manifestly a somewhat serious incident Nor is its gravity entirely removed by the news that the Black Diamond has escaped, that instead of sailing for Sitka as ordered by the captors her captain steered for British Columbia and took his vessel into his home port, Victoria the single officer put on board by the Rush offering no resistance to the change of course Perhaps Captain Shepard was not very sorry to get the vessel off his hands He may not have very clearly seen what to do with his prize To take it into port and ask any tribunal American or other, to condemn it would be to run the risk of being told that he had committed an entirely illegal act

But the matter can scarcely end with the escape of the Black Diamond

At any moment another seizure may be made or attempted the American revenue officers may not find other vessels so defenceless and unprepared as were the Black Diamond and Triumph seamen engaged as they believe in a lawful occupation on the high seas may not quietly submit to the loss of their property and it is important before more serious difficulties present themselves, to settle once for all the merits of the controversy which we supposed General Harrison's administration had wisely determined to let alone

On the face of the known facts there is not a particle of justification of the high handed act of the American revenue officers * * * The sole alleged justification of the proceedings in the existence of a statute, passed by congress in the last days of the Cleveland administration forbidding under severe penalties the killing of fur bearing animals in Alaska, and decreeing the forfeiture of vessels violating the law With the policy of the act we have nothing to do and certainly no fault to find It may be advisable to lose no time in putting a stop to the wholesale slaughter of seals in the neighborhood of Alaska * * *

But one thing at a time, for the present we have to do, not with the wrongs of the seals but with what appears to be a wanton outrage Mr Blaine may say that congress by the act of March last tied his hands and left him no choice We should be surprised to find that any court will by construction extend such an enactment to the subjects and vessels of other countries outside territorial waters But the intentions of congress whatever they may have been cannot affect foreign countries Legislation purporting to punish offences committed beyond the soil of the United States and outside territorial waters cannot without our consent bind English citizens. * * *

What reasons Mr Blaine can give for the capture of a Canadian vessel in waters over which congress has no greater rights than the legislature of France we are at present at a loss to know Certainly no such right as is claimed has ever been recognized by England We cannot but believe that the secretary of state will upon examination of the case disavow the proceedings of the captain of the Rush or will at least hasten to put matters in trim for a satisfactory settlement of the controversy and for the prevention of fresh difficulties

He has now done the utmost that can be expected of him by congress No statute prevents him from admitting that the action of the Rush is contrary to international law and the comity of nations and renewing the negotiations which Secretary Bayard began but which for some unexplained reason he did not complete * * *

Many insinuations were heard, before Mr Blaine took office that he would prove not so well disposed to this country as his predecessors He now bears the yoke of responsibility and he is likely to be careful as secretary of state to give no color to suggestions founded on words said by him in the course of party warfare Considering that he has only been a few months a member of the administration and that this is his first important act in office this care is perhaps not so visible as might be desired

Still we wait with confidence his explanations Why should we think that they will not in the main be satisfactory? The controversy is simple the issue involved is of secondary consequence to both countries and lies remote from the ordinary causes of irritation. He has at his side advisers who cannot fail to tell him that the action of the revenue cutter is at variance with the plainest precepts of American jurists

The traditions of his office all run counter to the jurisdiction now claimed and he cannot be oblivious to the bearing of the controversy on matters in which the United States are more interested than the seal fishery in Alaska His answer to the inevitable remonstrance will we do not doubt open the door to a satisfactory settlement of a question which ought never to have been raised but which must now be effectually dealt with by diplomacy if possible once for all

Broken in Mind and Body He Is Permitted to Return

ST PETERSBURG Aug [illegible]—The czar has granted a full pardon to the famous author and poet Tschernischewski The crime for which Tschernischewski suffered such terrible punishment was the somewhat socialistic style of certain articles published in the Sovremennik a contemporary monthly review appearing in this city and the authorship of a book under the title "What Is To Be Done?" He was the first of the nihilistic martyrs and is looked on as the father of nihilism Twenty five years have elapsed since he was sentenced to fourteen years hard labor in the salt mines of Siberia In 1884 he was permitted to take up his residence in one of the penal settlements of western Siberia where he enjoyed a relative amount of liberty Now at the age of 60 he returns to his native land utterly shattered in health and it is said also in mind

Some of the largest mills [illegible] have shut down owing to the dullness of trade

The rope makers at Bermondsey a suburb of London have joined the strikers In Rotherhithe the ship building district of London, processions of strikers are marching continually

Many ship owners have begun suits against the Commercial Dock Company, claiming damages for the detention of vessels The company claims that the act of parliament granting them a charter precludes the enforcement of any claims for damage owing to the strike

The strike is gaining new adherents hourly Eight hundred sailors and firemen and 2 00 lockmen at the Isle of Dogs where several large docks are located have gone out

In consequence of the strike thousands of tons of mutton are rotting it being impossible to find men to handle the stock

DR. McDOWELL'S TREATMENT BY DR. DARRIN.

Who Can Doubt Dr Darrin's Skill When Such Men Testify

There is an old saw which runs "Who shall decide when doctors disagree?" That doctors do disagree oftener than the contrary, modern history of medicine abundantly proves When a doctor admits that another doctor though of different school, has performed a cure which he and his colleagues of his own school have deemed impossible surely the millenium must be nearing us The following tribute to the gift and skill of Dr Darrin is a remarkable instance of a generous impulse worked out against powerful professional prejudice and is worthy of record

A POLITICAL PRETENDER

The Catholic Sentinel bewails the loss of e political and secular power of the pope d predicts that that power will be re ored, yet flies into a frantic fury when er it is intimated by others that the oman church has pretensions to political d secular power.

The simple truth is that the spirit of the e has outgrown the pretensions of the ad of the Roman church. Hence it is at even in Catholic countries as Italy rance and South Germany the political etensions of the pope are scouted. In aly especially the attitude of the pope as political pretender incites the state to perities towards ecclesiastical institutions at seem harsh to Americans who are ac astomed to complete toleration of religious rders.

One of the most thorough exposures of the tility of expecting a restoration of the apal government at Rome appeared in a oman letter to the London Tablet, Cardinal Ianning's organ. The Rome of the papal tates is as much a thing of the past as the ome of the Cæsars. Under civil rule mod rn Rome has had a development compar ble to the "boom" of an American town. A reat number of municipal improvements ave been made, population has largely in reased, industrial activity has made great trides, large financial engagements have een entered into, and the temper of the eople is such that if the pope ever rules the ity again it must be by force. Unsupported y foreign troops the papal government ould not last a week, and if there is any eason why Italians have not just as good a ight to home rule as the Irish it has never een presented.

It is a curious thing to find one who claims to be the apostolic successor of him who said his kingdom was not of this world contending for an earthly kingdom and nterfering at all points throughout the world with the policy of states. It is a foolish attempt to project medievalism into modern times, and is not less, but more foolish from the fact that it is made under pretensions of infallibility. Catholics generally do not support it, for if they did such Catholic countries as Italy and France would not be at variance with the pope. Here and there in America is an ultra montanist like the editor of the Catholic Sentinel, who is so controlled by priestly bigotry as to contend for it, and to emit his blackguardism against every one who criticises or denies it; but such as he do not speak for any considerable part of the Catholics of this country or any other. As political pretender the pope does not do justice to the Catholic people of the world.

FIRE STATISTICS

In view of the present agitation at Albina, East Portland and Portland for additional facilities for fighting fire it is of interest to consider the fire equipment of some other cities. We are indebted to the Fire and Water, a New York publication, for clear and useful statistics upon the subject. That journal has made a thorough investigation of the various states covering a period that extends to July 1, 1889.

As would be expected the state of New York takes the lead with 318 steam and 109 other engines, 310 hose and ladder trucks, 849 hose carriages and wagons, 9,219 active firemen, 804,890 feet of hose, 837 horses, and buildings and apparatus valued at $[illegible]. This report is from 345 towns and cities, while 51 towns were heard from that had no fire protection whatsoever.

Pennsylvania has 228 steam and 141 other engines, 143 hook and ladder trucks, 579 hose carriages and wagons, 22,993 active firemen, 543 horses, 514,990 feet of hose, with buildings and apparatus valued at $2,701,[illegible], covering 271 towns and cities. It will be seen by comparison that Pennsylvania has engines and men in full proportion with New York as to population, but is far behind in the estimated value of equipment.

Massachusetts in proportion to population has better protection against fire than even New York. She has 69 steam and 361 other engines, 330 hook and ladder trucks, 1,163 hose carriages and wagons, 11,574 active firemen, 603 horses, 82[illegible],301 feet of hose, with buildings and apparatus valued at $3,793,3[illegible]. This covers [illegible] cities, with 72 that report no fire protection.

Ohio has 170 steam and 157 other engines, 9131 active firemen, and buildings valued at $2,242,2[illegible]. Illinois has 117 steam and 168 other engines, 8625 active firemen, and apparatus valued at $3,220,722. New Jersey has steam 104 and other engines 59, 9114 active firemen and apparatus valued at $1,191,850. California has 59 steam and 41 other engines, 6266 active firemen, with buildings and apparatus valued at $1,168,170. Idaho has 1 steam engine, [illegible]66 active firemen, with apparatus valued at $17,000. Montana has 3 steam and 5 other engines, 410 active firemen, apparatus valued at $72,000. Washington territory has 6 steam and 3 other engines, 873 active firemen, apparatus valued at $[illegible]2,000. It may be here noted that the fire fighting facilities of Washington territory have been increased since the compilation of this report. Oregon is reported to have 11 steam and 7 other engines, 13 hook and ladder trucks, 20 hose carriages, 1500 active firemen, 24 horses, 26,000 feet of hose, with buildings and apparatus valued at $110,[illegible]10; this covers 33 cities with 20 towns that report no fire protection. We have not the space to produce statistics from all the states.

The report further shows that in the United States there are 2734 steam and 2305 other fire engines, 2[illegible] book and ladder trucks, [illegible]110 hose carriages, 187,357 active firemen, 5808 horses, 6,[illegible]04,[illegible] feet of hose, with buildings and apparatus valued at $38,[illegible], covering reports from 4019 towns and cities and from [illegible]4 places having no fire protection. Canada has [illegible] steam and 149 other engines, [illegible]901 active firemen, and apparatus and buildings valued at $2,102,[illegible]. The report is of great interest as it reveals that on the whole the people are fairly protected against fire in all sections except the West. In proportion to population and value of property California, Washington, Idaho and Oregon possess less facilities for fighting fire than any other states or territories. This is certainly a strong and forcible argument in favor of a prompt addition of men and apparatus to our own fire department.

Governor Waterman does the state of California credit when he declares the arrest of Justice Field upon the unsupported oath of Sarah Althea Terry to be a burning disgrace to the state unless the action is disavowed, and urges Attorney-General Johnson to take steps in this direction. The vindictive temper of the woman is as apparent in causing this arrest as it was in the scene that she made in court when the adverse decision of Justice Field in her infamous case threw her into such a transport of rage. It is fortunately rare that malevolence has had through any combination of events an opportunity to offer indignity and insult to the judicial power of the government.

Private Secretary Halford, like a decent sensible father, objects to the use of his daughter's photograph on cigarette packages, and has begun suit against a firm engaged in the manufacture of these vile little rolls of third class tobacco and malodorous paper, to prevent the desecration of the young lady's picture. The disgusting promiscuousness with which Mrs Cleveland's pretty face, neck, arms and bust appeared in the windows of tobacconists, second rate tailor shops, cheap stationers and what not had a cheapening effect upon a handsome young woman which her personal popularity was scarcely sufficient to overcome. The mere mention of her name recalls in thousands of minds the plump features, hair combed high, square corsage, short sleeves and long lace mitts in which the lady of the White House posed for months on fly specked cardboard in dust dimmed windows in every city and village in the land. There was a vague idea that this was permitted by the president and his wife only because it could not be helped, and that it was a source of annoyance to both of them. If Mr Halford proves that a man can prevent mercenary tradesmen from hawking his daughter's picture about as an embellishment to their wares, decently disposed people will wonder why Mr Cleveland did not rescue his wife's picture from such brazen association, unless indeed they accept the idea that the man enjoyed the cheap notoriety that he acquired in having married a pretty young woman.

The Philadelphia Press estimates that the United States will have for 1889 [illegible],000,000 bushels of wheat in excess of its own requirements. If this surplus production can be disposed of to advantage it will add materially to the prosperity of the year. India will have a crop 30 per cent less than 1888. Russia and the Danube district also will have a small yield. Latest cable reports seem to indicate less than an average production in all the countries of Europe. All these facts taken together predicate a good demand for our wheat and a fair price. This is good news to Oregon, and especially to the people of the Willamette valley.

The incoming class will be by far the largest which ever entered Yale. The question of how all shall be accommodated is one that is perplexing the faculty. As a partial adjustment of the difficulty it has been decided to drop the lowest twenty candidates. It has been the custom in past years to admit a number of students under conditions which they were allowed to work off during the year, but owing to the pressure for admittance the heavily conditioned man will stand little chance of getting in this year.

In an opinion on a tide land case from Yaquina bay, printed today, Judge Deady makes an important contribution to the discussion of a subject that has recently engaged much attention, particularly in Washington territory. The status of the tide lands so far as fixed by law, settled by precedent or adjudicated by the courts, is stated with great clearness. The opinion will no doubt find many readers, and more perhaps in Washington than in Oregon.

It is said that King Humbert and Queen Margherita of Italy have been placed under the ban of the church, the dedication of the Bruno statue being an affront that his long suffering holiness could not forgive. This is dreadful, if true, but it is just possible that their majesties will be able to stand it. Times have changed somewhat since Bruno was led to the stake. The rage of the pontiff here is, it is, is not of the burning quality that characterized it in those days.

The American play goers have in store for them this season a rich dramatic treat in the union of Madame Modjeska and Mr Edwin Booth. He is the ideal man and she the truest exponent of womanhood on the stage in this country. These two surrounded by a strong company will stir the country with a round of Shakespearean plays. It may be said that the creations of the master dramatist have seldom been so [illegible] and skillfully interpreted.

It is reported that the delegates from Vancouver to the state convention at Walla Walla favor N. H. Bloomfield for superior judge of that district. While not intending to disparage what qualities Mr Bloomfield may possess, it certainly would be a matter of regret if the republicans of Washington territory should ignore the faithful services of Judge Dennison and his admirable fitness for the position.

Nothing is so cultivating as an education in the art of classical music. Even the appreciation of Mozart, Beethoven, Wagner, Rossini and Meyerbeer is a culture in itself. It is reported that a project is on foot to create public interest in a national festival. Such an idea deserves the warmest encouragement of all people.

At the clearing house at Tacoma for last week the transactions footed up $480,[illegible]. Seattle will soon open a clearing house. Portland's clearings last week were $1,[illegible],088.24.

The third annual fair of the Whitman county W. T. agricultural association will be held at Colfax from October 9 to 1[illegible] inclusive. There is a fine speed programme.

Testing His Whistle

[illegible]

In the train: "Georgie, Georgie, Mind your hat will be blown off if you lean so far out of the carriage."

Paterfamilias (quickly snatching the hat from the head of the refractory youngster and hiding it behind his back)—"There, now, the hat is gone!"

Georgie sets up a howl. After a while his father remarks: "[illegible] come be quick. If I whistle your hat will come back again." (Whistles and replaces hat on boy's head.) "There it is back again, you see."

While the parents are engaged in conversation Georgie throws his hat out of the window and says: "[illegible] whistle again."

No one ever tried Simmons Regulator without being satisfied with its effect.

AN ALPINE OUTFIT.—W. G. Steele secretary of the Oregon Alpine Club has just received a mountain climbing outfit from Switzerland, which he sent for some six months ago. The climbing shoes or as they are called steig eisen are made of steel plates with six sharp beads about an inch in length on the soles. The plate, with the two front beads is fastened to the center so as to work like a hinge, thereby giving the foot more spring and elasticity. The steig eisen are fastened to the feet with straps similar to skate straps. Another article used in mountain climbing is a heavy tyrolese overcoat made of woolen cloth about an eighth of an inch thick. This outfit is used by mountain climbers in the Alps and will no doubt be adopted by the Alpine Club if found as represented after a trial to the summit of Mount Hood.

OUR BIG GRAIN ELEVATOR.—But little more work remains to be done to complete the grain elevator and the contractor Mr. J. A. McLennan says that he expects within two weeks to have steam up and to begin taking in grain. The narrow four story structure on the top of the huge building is called the cupola although it differs very materially in size from ordinary cupolas. Two of the floors in this cupola are occupied by machinery and two are for spouting the grain and weighing it. The elevators along the lines of the O. R. & N. Co. some thirty in number are all completed and most of them are full of grain and some are already shipping it to the terminal elevator here.

AUTHORIZED TO BORROW MONEY.—On petition of Receiver Scott of the Oregonian railway Judge Deady yesterday made an order in the United States circuit court allowing him to borrow $8180 to pay taxes on the road. During the years in which the suit was going on between the O. R. & N. Co. and the Oregonian Railway Co. in regard to the lease the court compelled the O. R. & N. Co. to pay the taxes. Now the receiver must borrow the money to pay them. The sale of the Oregonian roads to the Southern Pacific Co. is not consummated yet something always turning up at the last moment to prevent the sale being completed.

REPAIRING THE BATH HOUSE.—The work of repairing the free bath house which was badly wrecked in a collision with the steamer Three Sisters several weeks since is well under way. The large corner tank which was smashed into splinters has been replaced by a new one. The roof will be raised in a few days and some time next week the bath house will again be ready for use. At present there are three carpenters at work. Yesterday afternoon the bath house committee received $150 from the Oregon Pacific Improvement Company owners of the Three Sisters, to apply on the work of repairing the damage.

MUSIC ON THE PLAZA.—The Marine band gave another delightful concert at the plaza yesterday evening. A choice selection of new music and popular airs were played so that the desires of all were satisfied. Each found something that appealed to his and her individual tastes. The progress made by the band is a noticeable feature of the last few concerts. Difficult selections are played with greater ease, and more harmony and more accuracy. The plaza last night was covered by hundreds of people who enjoyed the sweet melodies, made more resonant and effective by the cool evening air.

DEATH WAS A WELCOME RELIEF.—Walter Wols the 17 year old youth who was so fearfully burned several days since by falling in a hot bed of sand in a Fulton Park brick yard, died in terrible agony at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. He was fearfully burned about the entire body especially the lower extremities which were literally roasted. Wols during the time intervening between the time he met with the accident and his death must have suffered a thousand deaths. His remains were sent to San Francisco where his parents reside yesterday.

A FESTIVE BURGLAR.—A thievishly inclined individual named Emil Hoffstetter was yesterday evening arrested by Officers James and Ryan for larceny committed in the Schweitzer hotel and lodging house on Second street between F and G. Hoffstetter got a notion to go through the clothes and rooms of the lodgers to see what articles of value he could find. The lodgers being apprised of his depredations most strenuously objected hence the arrest. It is understood that several complaints will be lodged against the festive Hoffstetter.

RATES ON DRIED FRUIT.—The Transcontinental Association has issued a supplement to their east-bound tariff dated August 14 which makes a slight change in the rates on dried fruits from this coast to the East. The new tariff reads: "Fruits—Dried Pacific coast products to Missouri river and common points all common points as far as New York $2 same straight or mixed carloads $1 40." The tariff on carload lots of dried fruits was $1 40 and the change is in allowing the carloads to consist of different kinds of fruit.

YOUNG HARDTRAMP STILL ALIVE.—A correspondent writing from Forest Grove yesterday states that young R. V. Hardtramp the boy who was so very seriously injured about a week since near Cornelius by being thrown and dragged a long distance by a horse which had been frightened by the blowing of a threshing machine whistle is still alive and in a fair way to recover. Dr. D. W. Ward the lad's attending physician is the correspondent's informant.

WORK ON THE SEWER.—Work is progressing favorably on the Johnson creek sewer about 1800 feet being completed. The contractors Messrs Bays & Jeffery will in a short time transfer their forces and begin work on the mouth of the sewer. The low stage of water in the river is very favorable for carrying on this work and it must be attended to at once for should the river raise it would have to be put off till next year.

KINDERGARTEN INSTITUTE.—To be conducted by Mrs. L. G. Green of Santa Cruz Cal will open September 2 at the hall corner Second and Mill streets continuing one week. Special instructions and training during each day for beginners and teachers. Public lectures in the evening to which the general public are invited. Mrs. Green has a national reputation as a public speaker and as a conductor of institutes.

OPERA COMPANY COMING.—Mr. Charles F. Bert business manager of [illegible] Comic Opera Company is now in the city. He comes to make arrangements for the first appearance in Portland of this excellent musical combination. The company will appear at New Park theater next Monday. Mr. Bert has visited Portland several times as business manager of different excellent attractions.

THEY WERE BOUND OVER.—Walter Keyes proprietor of the Mississippi Medicine Company and Levi F. Foss an employe arrested for setting up a lottery for the purpose of disposing of personal property were taken before Justice Tuttle yesterday morning for examination. They waived examination and were bound over to appear before the grand jury. Keyes in the sum of $500 and Foss $200.

EXCITING ROWING RACE EXPECTED.—The race next Saturday between the picked crews of seniors of the Portland Rowing Association will probably be the most exciting and closely contested race ever seen here. The crews are very evenly matched and have been practicing assiduously. If nothing untoward happens it is expected that they will lower the record.

WILL SHORTLY BE OUT.—A map of the cities of Portland, East Portland and Albina published by Mr. R. A. Habersham will shortly be out. The proof sheet will arrive to-day and the maps in about a week. The map is printed in colors and is something entirely new.

JAMES HAMILTON, formerly with the O. & C. railroad now with the U. C. & R. T. Company desires it understood by his friends that he is not the James Hamilton arrested Sunday for passing counterfeit currency.

WILLIAM FOSS IN TROUBLE.—Constable Simmons arrested William Foss yesterday morning on a charge of having assaulted and battered on William Martin on the 21st of last month in Mike Zeller's saloon.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—This board composed of County Judge Catlin, County Clerk Powell and Assessor Harrold, met this morning and will be in session the rest of the week.

VERY SICK.—Mr. J. T. Pickett the artist, is very sick at his residence 215 Eighth street.

ABOUT RECOVERED.—For some time past Dr. J. M. F. Chalmers has been quite sick. His many friends will be gratified to learn that he has about recovered from his late illness.

BLACK GOODS.—Mr. I. Selling's consignment of fall goods from New York is a line of black Henriettas and jet black Sicilians. They loom up splendidly in the corner window.

WILL THE ALBATROSS COME?

A Strong Effort Is Being Made to Induce That Vessel to Visit Portland

The president and directors of the Industrial fair Association are taking steps to have the United States fish commission steamer Albatross here during the coming fair. The Albatross is now undergoing some repairs at Seattle. As is well known she has been making extensive surveys of the fishing grounds off the Pacific coast from Lower California to Alaska and she has on board a wonderful display of all sorts of fishes caught during her cruise some from great depths and a great many of them rare and curious and some heretofore unknown.

This collection is of great interest to the people of this coast and if the Albatross should come round to this port during the progress of the fair many thousands of people would visit her and have an opportunity to see the splendid collection of fish and the trawls, dredges and other apparatus used in catching them.

It is seldom that a government vessel visits this port and there is little doubt that on application being made to Colonel Marshall McDonald of the fish commission he would order the Albatross around here. A gentleman of this city who visited the Albatross at Seattle a few days since was delighted with the exhibit of fishes he saw and with the courtesy of the officers of the steamer who took every pains to show and explain to him all the apparatus used in fishing and also to give all possible information in regard to the many strange and wonderful inhabitants of the briny deep which are preserved on board.

Colonel McDonald of the fish commission was here only a short time since and visited the Clackamas hatchery and made inquiries as to the welfare of the shad and other fish planted here by the commission and he would probably be very glad to give the thousands of people who will be assembled here an opportunity to visit the Albatross and see what good work she is doing.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, AUG. 27.

PATHETIC DEMAGOGY.

The New York Herald says that the democratic leaders can afford to sit still while the country slowly drifts in their direction This is mere pleasantry, or that great paper is blind to the lessons that history and experience teach If the democratic party is compelled to wait outside the gates of power until the country drifts round to its errors and follies, it would be necessary for it to be possessed of a divine patience of which Job was but a feeble exponent Such a hope however, is pardonable in a democratic newspaper, it must breathe some inspiration into its followers, even if perchance its promise of future victory should be based upon mere creations of the brain

When, however the Herald boldly charges that the party which President Harrison represents has little faith in the perpetuity of our institutions that that same party believes that the moneyed class should rule and the masses of the people should be kept in the background " it knows, or ought to know that it falsifies history, misrepresents the present, and, therefore, must call down upon its head the rebuke of truth

The republican party has ever been the champion of the people It has been the foe of class distinctions It has borne the burden of the meek and lowly It has battled for the weak against the strong has suffered contumely and, through its victorious achievements, to-day stands between the people and those who seek to undermine the foundation of national prosperity by legislation that takes the alluring form of a present apparent popular benefit This claim that the republican party has stood for the moneyed class is laughably absurd The only genuine aristocrats this country has ever seen were the cotton kings of ante bellum days, who, with their heels upon prostrate humanity, defied civilization and the world They claimed to have honor, but theirs was a system of false rules gotten up by a depraved society to please semi barbaric men The only aristocracy the republican party has ever advocated was that of brains and intelligence, moral courage and patriotism

Again the Herald charges that while the republican party flourishes "the workingmen will be ruthlessly sacrificed and that many will be driven to strikes in order to obtain wages above the starvation point " If Spies, Parsons and Lingg, the Chicago anarchists, had not been dead and buried for some years it might strongly be suspected that they had been assigned a position upon the editorial staff of the Herald The similarity between this frothy demagogism and the utterance of socialists, anarchists and nihilists is striking When a common laborer gets his $2 to $2 50 per day the mason his $4 to $6 per day, the carpenter his $4 the shoemaker his $3 50 the coal miner, weaver and blacksmith more than they ever got before, and when all men can buy with earnings more of the necessaries of life than ever before, and more than can the laborer of any other country on the earth, it becomes plainly apparent that all this talk about starvation wages is mere stuff, bearing on its front the open seal of intentional deceit

The political party for which the Herald speaks once insisted that capital should own labor Whipped out of that inhuman and atrocious dogma, it now pretends to a monopoly of love and compassion for the laboring man It is pathetic indeed

ANSWERED IN KIND

A man named Bigham in Indiana has issued an address on the tariff Mr Bigham is a democratic politician and he has put his statement as he supposes in a very "taking" and unanswerable way The model of the address he has presented is taken from a brochure written by a British free trader forty or fifty years ago We quote this passage

Behold, then, the happy laborer as he rises in the morning and puts on his flannel shirt, taxed 95 per cent. It is, perchance cool and he puts on a coat taxed 57 per cent He cannot go out without shoes, taxed 35 per cent, and the hat he puts on is taxed 65 per cent He draws water in a bucket taxed 35 per cent, and washes his face and hands in a tin bowl taxed 35 per cent. drying them on a cheap cotton towel taxed 45 per cent. But still more happiness is in store He sits down to breakfast and eats from a plate taxed 50 per cent with a knife and fork taxed 35 per cent The sugar he puts into his coffee is taxed 82 per cent, and he seasons his food with salt taxed 40 per cent. He looks fondly at his happy wife and children who share with him his protection, and then goes out and fills his pipe with tobacco taxed 132 per cent, or lights a protected cigar taxed 118 per cent and proceeds to his highly protected labor The day's work being done he reads a chapter from the family Bible taxed 25 per cent, and kneels to pray on an humble carpet taxed 51 per cent At last he lies down and wraps his weary limbs in a sheet taxed 42 per cent, and sinks into the arms of Morpheus under a blanket that is taxed 104 per cent The democratic party is the only avenue of escape from this unjust system of taxation which menaces the prosperity of our country and home

The Indianapolis Journal answers this in its own style Here is the answer

Mr Bigham should have added "I am therefore in favor of abolishing the tariff on imported flannel shirts woolen goods shoes hats buckets t[illegible] bowls cotton towels and cloths plates knives and forks sugar salt tobacco carpets and blankets. This will enable me to buy the above imported articles very cheap I want to buy them cheap I prefer to rob the laborer of my own country of his good wages rather than be compelled to contribute to the wages being paid to him '

When this is done the happy Mr Bigham when he rises in the morning, will put on a flannel shirt made by pauper labor at 50 cents a day If it is perchance cool he will put on a coat made by pauper labor at 5[illegible] cents a day He cannot go without shoes so he will put on a pair made by pauper labor at 4[illegible] cents a day He puts on a hat made by pauper labor at [illegible] cents a day He draws water in a bucket made by pauper labor at [illegible] cents a day and washes his face in a tin bowl made by pauper labor at 40 cents a day and dries it on a cheap cotton towel made by pauper labor at [illegible] cents a day. Mr Bigham is still not happy until he sits down at a breakfast and gazes upon a plate made by pauper labor at [illegible] cents a day and eats with a knife and fork made by pauper labor at 32 cents a day The sugar he puts in his coffee is made by slave labor and this makes him happy for it reminds him of the good old democratic days And the salt that he seasons his food with is produced by labor at [illegible] cents a day Mr Bigham looks fondly at his happy wife and children to think that American workingmen are reduced to the starving wages paid to pauper labor and goes out and fills his pipe with tobacco produced by the unpaid labor of the black man And the day's work being done he reads a chapter from the family Bible which was printed and bound by the pauper labor of Europe and kneels [illegible] American workingman [illegible] of the pauper labor of Europe At last [illegible] his weary limbs [illegible] made by pauper labor [illegible] American [illegible] passing in [illegible] before him He [illegible] to say This [illegible] is the happy [illegible] season for which I [illegible] long [illegible]

The democracy is indulging in a species of unholy delight over the failure of a number of woolen mills in New England charging the result directly to high tariff Mr [illegible]nell consul at Bradford, England, has shown in his report that millions of dollars worth of worsted goods have been fraudulently imported into this country at a lower rate of duty than provided by law The treasury department has ordered the classification of worsteds as woolen goods, and under this decision importation decreased in the month of July alone 260 000 yards, as compared with the last July of a democratic administration For four years under Cleveland the woolen manufacturers have been compelled to fight the cheap labor of England, and the result is now felt. The trade will now revive under a just and legal classification that in reality protects

NOTE AND COMMENT

All the troubles existing and to be in the future between Canada and the United States will be cured by annexing this country to Canada. The ice that anchors that region will hold us to her, and no more of Behring sea seizures or North Atlantic troubles will be heard of Free trade and reciprocity will not vex us mutually and fears disturb the dreams of statesmen It will be harmony to a continent and peace to half the world When we think of the multitudinous fears and cares that invade our sunlight and make shadows for our days, we cannot but realize that North America can tolerate no divided allegiance, and that annexation will act as healing balm and oil poured on stormy waters

It is probably true that the production of wheat in many parts of the country East of the Cascades is scarce more than one half what it has been in former years but that half is nearly or quite as much as states average in the West or what is commonly so called. The average of many states is not over thirteen to fifteen bushels of wheat to the acre and this year, despite the drouth, Western Oregon will average twenty five to thirty bushels, and many fields go thirty five to fifty bushels per acre Measuring our wheat production in the Pacific Northwest by our success in average years and we realize a partial failure but in comparison with failures in the Middle and Western states our failure is a partial success

The Helena Journal says "We are asked why all these long trains of emigrants pass here with their faces turned toward Oregon and Washington territory The solution of this question is a very easy one Because Oregon has already led her sister now on the eve of adoption into the great family of states A car called Oregon on Wheels has three times made the trip into the older states, and on its last voyage went all the way to New York to show the products raised by the descendants of the plain old people who camped on the Great American desert forty five years ago on their tedious six months journey across the plains " The Journal has the correct idea of matters, Oregon has shaken the [illegible] and its infant brother north of the Columbia is gathering up the chestnuts

It is supposed that the good old times when people came the plains across are gone and never more to return, but that is not so Mr L O Ralston who lives on the old Emigrant road in Gilliam county, is where he sees many passers by Of course, there are various ways now open to come into Oregon, and this is only one He says that since early spring at least a hundred teams have passed his door that have crossed the plains Some came from as far East as Virginia and many were from Kansas and Nebraska and have been four months on the way Yet their animals are in fair condition The immigrants themselves are in good spirits and pleased with what they see of Eastern Oregon These people do not seem to consider that part of our state as desolated by drouth for the reason that the crops and harvests on the way compare fairly with what they are used to. It will be news to many that thousands are coming overland with their own teams, but such is the case.

It is said that while wages are coming down in America they are going up in England and Europe Without stopping to ask if this is so, we can surely account for the fact if it is so Goods are lower priced in this country and it is only fair that the cost of their production should be less Also, the cost of living is less owing to the cheapening of the staples of life It is therefore natural that wages in many lines of production should decline in price, though the fact is that the laborer is actually better paid, because his wages buy more than ever before. In the old countries wages are gradually advancing because of the influence of American institutions and the ocean being open to transport to this country skilled workingmen from all countries It may be that this depletion of the labor market produces an effect, or it may be that the fear of it induces the employers there to advance wages to prevent emigration hither Whatever may be the ostensible cause it can be traced to America as the vital principle. Eliminate this country from the question and the labor of Europe would be bound hand and foot and wages would be barely enough to keep soul and body together

An exchange thinks it is time for the youth of the country to stop and ask themselves how they are to make a living They are sent to school and learn many things that would be of use to a man who proposes to live by his learning if he learned them well enough But they are not proficient and if they were the demand is too limited to furnish those who are learned with suitable occupation They should be educated so that they can develop natural capacity and permanently follow natural tastes The majority of men must work at trades and occupations and only a limited number can be merchants or professional men Manual labor schools should abound and serve the important purpose of directing these youths to useful careers Technical schools and manual labor classes will cover a great need and leave no ground for complaint Education is superficial greatly as it has been advanced of late years and its chief aim seems to have been, so far, to unfit men for lives of labor who have no other resource but that Let them be schooled so that their capacity for labor is developed and it will be found that all walks are equally filled and no lives are wasted as now is so often the case

A recent visitor from the East remarked that in the Willamette valley all the towns seemed to be improving and many new homes are being built There never was a time when Oregon showed such a general advance as the present. The country and all the cities and villages show progress of a substantial character Salem possesses advantages as the capital of the state that carry weight but it also possesses business facilities and advantages that are worth much in insuring its future For many years Salem was rated as having 6000 population and its business was stationary, holding its own but not increasing Under the new order of things the population is put at 10,000, and the capital city is booming, but not in any excited sense The year just has seen hundreds of new homes built and the outskirts of the town, to which street car lines now reach, are filling up in a solid way The same is true of Albany and Corvallis for both cities feel the impetus that a railway connection gives If the time ever comes when water powers are in demand in this state we shall see Salem and Albany become manufacturing centers for they each possess the most reliable and easily controlled water privileges imaginable One of these days industry will transform these valley towns so that the present will bear no comparison

The California papers say that the brig Natalia, which foundered in the harbor of Monterey in 1834, is to be raised or at least what is left of her copper sheathing is to be brought to the surface It is said that this is the same vessel that brought Napoleon back to France from the Isle of Elba in 1815

TIDE LANDS.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT DISTRICT OF OREGON

Monday, August 26, 1889

(1) "SHORE" OR TIDE LANDS. On the admission of a new state into the Union the "shore" or tide lands therein, not disposed of by the United States prior thereto, become the property of the state

(2) IDEM RIGHT OF ACCESS TO. The owner of land abutting on the "shore" or tide lands in this state and not disposed of by the United States or the state, has a right of access from his land to the water and may erect and maintain a private wharf there for his own convenience so long as he does not materially interfere with the rights of the general public and subject to the power of the legislature to regulate such use

DEADY J

This suit is brought to have the defendant enjoined from constructing a tramway along the northern shore of Yaquina bay near its mouth in front of certain property belonging to the plaintiff whereby access to the bay from said property is hindered and prevented

It is alleged in the bill that the plaintiff is the owner of a tract of land in Benton county, Oregon known as the Ocean House property and worth $15 000 with a tavern on it which cost $6000 that said property abuts on the northern shore of said bay into which the plaintiff has constructed a private wharf to and from which goods and passengers are transported across said shore between said bay and tavern that Yaquina bay is navigable for all ordinary vessels and is within the ebb and flow of the ordinary tides of the Pacific ocean whereby said shore is daily covered and uncovered for an average distance of 100 feet that the defendant is wrongfully and unlawfully engaged in constructing a wooden tramway over and along said shore in front of said property with intent to maintain the same there for at least three years which will completely cut off and prevent access from said bay or wharf to said tavern and vice versa to the great damage of the plaintiff

The suit was brought in the circuit court of the state for the county of Benton and removed here on the ground that the defence to the same arises under the laws of the United States

Here a general demurrer was filed to the bill On the argument the following points were made in support of the demurrer

(1) The "shore" in question is tide land and therefore presumably belongs to the state of Oregon

(2) The statutes of the state (Comp of 1887 § 3[illegible]99 et seq) provide for the acquisition of tide lands by the owner of the abutting tract but the plaintiff does not show any right thereunder

(3) The right to build or maintain the wharf by the plaintiff depends on the statute of the state the common law or common usage, and neither the statute nor the common law confers any such right

(4) There is no usage in Oregon by which the plaintiff can construct or maintain this wharf

(5) A comparison of the maps in the surveyor general's office will show that the tide land in question is within the corporate limits of the town of Newport, as defined by the act of February 21 1887 which gives the town the exclusive power to regulate the erection of private wharves thereon which power is also given to the town by virtue of §§ 4227 4228 of the Compilation of 1887

By the statute of the state (Comp 1887 § 5390) the commissioners for the sale of school lands are "authorized and required to sell * * * tide and overflowed lands on the seacoast owned by the state," as therein provided. This statute was passed on October 18, 1878 It gave the owner of land "abutting or fronting" on "the shore" of the Pacific ocean or of any bay the preference as a purchaser of such shore or tide land for one year from the passage of the act

This act was passed on the assumption that upon the admission of the state into the Union—February 14, 1859—the title to the lands covered by the tide then undisposed of by the United States passed by operation of law to the state How or why this is so except to bolster up some fanciful notion of state sovereignty I never could perceive But on the authority of Pollard v Hagan 3 How 212 and Weber v Harbor Commissioners 18 Wall 57 this court must recognize it as the law of the land

In his dissenting opinion in Pollard vs Hagan (supra 231) Mr Justice Catron says: A doctrine has lately sprung up in the courts of Alabama (tempus 1841) assuming that all lands temporarily flowed with tide water, were a part of the eminent domain and a sovereign right in the old states, and that the new ones when admitted into the Union coming in with equal sovereign rights took the lands thus flowed by implication as an incident of state sovereignty, and thereby defeated the title of the United States * * * Although the assumption was new in the courts it was not entirely so in the political discussions of the country There it had been asserted that the new states coming in, with equal rights appertaining to the old ones took the high lands as well as the low by the same implication now successfully asserted here in regard to the low lands, and, indeed it is difficult to see where the distinction lies that the United States acquired in a corporate capacity the right of soil under water as well as of the high lands by the treaty with France, cannot be doubted, nor that the right of soil was retained and subject to grant up to the time Alabama was admitted as a state '

In Hinman v Warren (6 Or 403) the court went further, and held that the United States cannot dispose of the tide lands even in a territory This decision is also based on the dogma of state sovereignty—that is the sovereignty of a state in futuro which is yet so to speak in utero of the womb of time, and may never be born

The proposition is supported by the assertion— that the United States government has no constitutional or statutory authority to so act towards a territory or so dispose of the lands within a territory as to make it impossible to admit such territory upon an equal footing with the other states of the Union

In Gould on Waters (§ 41) it is said this is the only adjudication on the subject of the power of the national government while holding the title to the soil of the tide waters " to make a valid conveyance of the same

The author adds—The decisions of the supreme court of the United States have been thought to lead to the conclusion reached in Hinman v Warren but it would seem there is no very direct expression of that view in the opinion of the court "

The doctrine that new states must be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the old ones, does not rest on any express provision of the constitution which simply declares (Art IV § 3) New states may be admitted by congress into this union, ' but on what is considered and has been held by the supreme court to be the general character and purpose of the union of the states as established by the constitution— a union of political equals Pollard v Hagan 3 How 233 Permoli v New Orleans Id, 609 Strader v Graham 10 How 92

But certainly this equality does not require that the new state shall be admitted to any right in the soil thereof considered as property The ante revolution states acquired no property in the soil thereof by entering into the union That which had not passed into private hands they already owned and held as the political successors of the British crown

The [illegible] constitutional equality between the [illegible] extends to the right of [illegible] the constitution to have [illegible] the [illegible] measure [illegible] admitted to an equal par[illegible] in the [illegible] conduct of the [illegible] nation [illegible]

[illegible] pride of the new state may be touched at the thought of being the owner of the [illegible] swamp and overflowed land within its borders and the taxpayer [illegible] that the proceeds of [illegible] lighten the burden of taxation [illegible] [illegible] to the new state out of the public lands within its borders let congress provide that it shall have a liberal percentage of all the sales of such land

The soil of Oregon was acquired by the national government by means of the discoveries explorations and occupation of the citizens of the United States, and it was so acquired for the benefit of all and not a part In Johnson v McIntosh (8 Wheat 59) Mr Chief Justice Marshall in considering the effect of a discovery of an uninhabited country, by persons who acknowledge some existing government, says, 'the discovery is made for the benefit of the whole nation and the vacant soil is to be disposed of by that organ of the government which has the constitutional power to dispose of the national domain '

And in Martin v Waddell (16 Pet 409) Mr Chief Justice Taney cites this language, and relies on this authority in a case involving the right to the soil under the navigable waters of New Jersey Congress is the organ of the national government that has the power to dispose of the territory and other property of the United States Con Art IV § 3

In the territories the national government is both the sovereign and proprietor Congress has the power to govern them and in so doing exercises the combined power of the national and state governments Am Ins Co v Canter 1 Pet 542 And as such sovereign and proprietor it may dispose absolutely of all the public land in the territory whether high or low wet or dry For the time being as sovereign it has the jus publicum or right of jurisdiction and control of the shores for the benefit of the public as in the case of a public highway over private land while as proprietor it has the jus privatum or right of private property subject to the jus publicum Gould on Waters § 17

This jus publicum whether held by the national government during the territorial period or the state thereafter may be sold and disposed of by the legislature of either who represent the public Lansing v Smith 4 Wend 20, Gould v Hudson R Ry Co 6 N Y 158, Gould on Waters § [illegible]

On the admission of the territory into the Union the state as the local sovereign or authority succeeds to the jus publicum except so far as may be necessary to enable the national government to make and maintain regulations of commerce But it rests with congress to say when a territory shall be admitted into the Union as a state Can any one say when if ever Alaska will be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with Ohio Pennsylvania and New York For aught that appears it will ever be but very sparsely populated Its commercial value is principally as a splendid preserve for fish and fur while as a summer tourist ground and a place to get far from the madding crowd it is grand and unequaled Can it be possible that in the meantime the United States may not dispose of the private property in any of the shore of Alaska which it purchased from Russia, but must hold it willing or not, as trustee for some possible state or local sovereign that may arise or rule there in the far future? As well it seems to me if any grant or disposition of the shore in England by the crown prior to magna charta is binding on the succeeding sovereigns of the house of Hanover

Assuming, as we must, in the present state of the decisions on the subject that the "shore" or lands in Oregon, periodically covered by the tides and not disposed of by the United States while it was a territory, are the property of the state, what on the showing here made is the condition of the "shore" in question or the rights of the parties to this suit in relation thereto? There is nothing to show that it ever has been disposed of by either the state or the United States By the act of 1887 supra the state has authorized its sale So far as appears, this sale may be made without qualification or reservation—a sale of both the jus publicum and the jus privatum. In which case the vendee would acquire the private property in the land and the right of the public to the use of the same, for the purpose of navigation or fishing

Whether any reservation of the jus publicum has been made in the deeds executed by the commissioners to vendees under the act I am not advised

The plaintiff is the owner of land abutting on the "shore" of Yaquina bay How he acquired it does not appear and it may not be material But the title must be derived from the United States, under some of the acts of congress, providing for the disposition of the public lands in Oregon Be this as it may, as a littoral proprietor, he has a right of access from his premises to the water and to erect and maintain a private wharf there, at which to land and embark, so long as he does not materially interfere with the rights of the public, and subject to the power of the legislature to regulate such use or privilege Dutton v Strong 1 Black 25 Schurmeier v Railway Co 7 Wall 272, Yates v Milwaukee 10 Wall 497 Weber v Harbor Commissioners 18 Wall 57, Gould on Waters §§ 124 149 [illegible] 1 4

The defendant has no [illegible] in the "shore" or to the use of it, beyond that of the general public, which does not include the right to construct or maintain a tramway or other structure upon or over it that would prevent or substantially impair the littoral proprietor's right or privilege of access to and from the water

It does not appear from the bill that this tramway is in fact, such a structure or whether the rail or track is laid level with the sand or earth or not Presumably it is so But it was admitted on the argument that it is twelve or fifteen inches above the surface of the ground and therefore cannot be crossed by a wheeled vehicle unless it is bridged

Prima facie then the tramway is a nuisance, which works a special injury to the plaintiff and the defendant ought not to be allowed to maintain it and an injunction is the proper remedy for the wrong 1 Pom Eq § 252 Gould on Waters § 21

The point made under the act of 1887 cannot now be considered The facts on which it rests are not in the record nor are they such as the court can take judicial notice of It does not appear from the bill that the "shore" in question is within "the corporate limits of Newport" or that the land of the plaintiff

In this opinion some possible aspects of this case are considered that are not absolutely necessary to the decision on this demurrer But they were seriously propounded by the learned counsel for the parties and the consideration of them invoked

The demurrer is overruled

Mr James F Watson for the plaintiff

Mr Lewis L McArthur for the defendant

ALLEGED REFORM IN SALEM

A Letter From a Prominent Citizen Discrediting the Report

SALEM Aug 26

To the Editor of The Oregonian

The old saying that you must go away from home to hear the news was most signally exemplified by a report in a recent issue of your paper of a combination conference of various reform forces held in this city on the 10th of this month

Now are you right sure you have not been imposed upon by some impecunious wag, and that, in fact no such meeting was ever held? There are several reasons why such a thing is altogether improbable.

First No one in this part of the state ever heard of it until reading its minutes and resolutions as reported in THE OREGONIAN Certainly no such monstrous combination of "reform forces which includes the grange prohibition party " the union labor party the [illegible] K of L (whatever that may mean) and several other uninterpretable names of associations on the warpath could be held in such a community as this without any one hearing of it

Secondly Your report assumes that D F Hayes master of the Patrons of Husbandry has pledged that order to join a political party as a body in order to scoop the republicans Now the principal object of this combination is set forth in the resolutions is to get the [illegible] out of politics ' and such a combination therefore presumes without question that every granger is a prohibitionist

Of such a [illegible] is likely to meet with difficulties on the very threshold of it [illegible] since I know several grangers who actually belong to the G A R, [illegible] members of that order [illegible] [illegible] and would [illegible] decidedly republican himself

[illegible] that the grange is [illegible] Mrs [illegible] probably [illegible] who [illegible] was never [illegible] to him

My third reason for not believing your report genuine is that nowhere in the proceedings does the name of my distinguished friend John P Robertson of this county appear But now I recall several occasions during the past dozen years when combinations of various reform forces whose object was to get somebody into office were effected and my friend from the South Salem hills has always been a prominent factor During the dozen years I have known him to reform out of every party known to mankind and into every other and out of my deep regard for him I protest against the genuineness of the report of any kind of reform movement which ignores him with quiet though studied disdain

Between the distinguished gentleman referred to and myself there exists a feeling of intimate personal friendship which threatens to develop into one of mutual admiration and I insist on that spirit of fair play towards him which will guarantee that Hamlet shall continue to be the leading character in Hamlet.

No your report was certainly bogus, who was its author? [illegible] GLER

BAKER CITY Aug 24

In company with C A Hogoboom your correspondent visited the grounds of the Baker County Stock and Agricultural Association situated one mile north of Baker City The officers of the association are J H Parker president, L H Mix secretary, J P Hault, treasurer and C A Hogoboom superintendent The grounds are being refitted throughout and no faster track can be found in the Northwest The grand stand and judges' stand are entirely new, the former having a seating capacity of 1200 with apartments for the members and officers of the association separated from the main gallery The bottom floor is to be used as a saloon and pool stand

The judges' stand, when completed will be a model of architecture with weighing room on ground floor reporters' gallery in second story and judges stand in third story The eighty five stalls are all cross-laid for [illegible] from the ground making them fairly safe in case horses are vicious and unmanageable The water tank and windmill are complete, the tank holding 7000 gallons is full to the top

Fifteen loads of water are sprinkled on the track every day and horsemen pronounce it the most perfect track east of the Cascades Water pipes are laid through all the grounds with convenient hydrants for the distribution of the water A ample sheep cattle and hog sheds are also being erected so that a display of fine stock may add to the attractiveness of the fair

There are already in training forty head of horses on the grounds and the superintendent informs us that ample provision will be made to accommodate all who wish to enter as straw hay and grain will be found on the grounds

The track is sixty five feet wide and all stretches and turns are as correct as civil engineering can make them The association deserve great credit for the interest taken in arranging a series of speed trials at this place, and by their liberality have secured the rural sport stake which will prove a drawing card in the five days' races which begin on October 8th More than $4000 are to be given in purses

NOTES

William Lewis, who was stabbed in the right side by Mark Benson on Sunday night last, is thought to be not seriously hurt

G Adams plead guilty to passing counterfeit money in the circuit court to day, and was sentenced by Judge Ison to one year in the penitentiary

The funeral of Slother Ison father of Judge L B Ison was largely attended under the auspices of the I O O F, of which he was an honored member

Robert C Ham, implicated with Clinton Pennington, in the murder of Charles Balcom was discharged from the county jail on Wednesday, the 21st instant, and in company with his father started at once for his home in Missouri. It is the general opinion here that Ham had nothing to do with the killing, and as he is a young man of good appearance and honest intentions, it is to be hoped that his old friends and associates at home will not look upon him as a murderer and an outcast That he was in bad company cannot be denied, and he came near paying for that crime by sharing the fate of his fellow cellmate

A RAILROAD TO ASTORIA

Charles Francis Adams, W H Holcomb and C J Smith Say That It Will Soon Be Commenced

Astorian of Sunday

Messrs Adams, Holcomb and party arrived down on the Reed yesterday morning and immediately transferred to the George H Mendell going down to see the Fort Stevens jetty They returned to the Reed and left for Portland at 11 10 All the party expressed themselves as greatly pleased, Mr. Adams being particularly complimentary

Among others beside Messrs Adams and Holcomb were C J Smith general manager O R & N Co, C A Dolph D P Thompson Henry Failing, H W Corbett, and other prominent residents of Portland They were accompanied on the return by Dr Aug C Kinney as far as Cathlamet

Mr Adams Mr Holcomb and Mr Smith concurred in the statement that they were taking all the preliminary steps necessary for the building of a railroad to Astoria as soon as possible

But when they proposed building the road just where the route would be, and just who the three gentlemen meant when they said "we" cannot with precision be defined but the substance of their statements was to that effect—viz that the preliminary work of building a railroad to Astoria is now under way, that they recognized the necessities of the situation and the advantages of this place and that so soon as certain negotiations with Eastern financiers were completed, which they say will be soon the actual work of building the road will be begun

While the Astorian is pleased to hear these gentlemen say so much and glad to chronicle their utterances, it doesn't forget former visits and statements and suggests that we continue to work out our own salvation by bending our united and concentrated energies to the railroad we have ourselves a[illegible] and see that that goes ahead to speedy and prosperous completion

The gentlemen were very much pleased at the progress of the jetty work were profuse in their praise for the energy [illegible] work done there agreed upon the beach [illegible] and the advantages of Astoria as a wheat shipping point and regretted that their haste rendered it impossible for them to remain longer

D P Thompson the next governor of Oregon thought Astoria ought to be advertised more When informed that the Astorian was now preparing an illustrated edition of 50 000 copies on fine book paper, he smiled and said "That's right I'll take 500 copies" As owner of the Columbia Water Works it is his interest to have Astoria water consumers increase

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The stock market opened with some animation, and a decidedly strong tone, in marked contrast to the weakness in the trading. The bulls gained confidence as the day wore along, and when the announcement was made that the secretary of the treasury had accepted over a million and a half of bonds the bullish feeling became much more pronounced and the market showed an increased activity, and the specialties made a spurt. Delaware & Hudson reached still higher figures than ever before in the history of the company. The movement, however, extended to the entire list and everything continued to rise until the close, which was fairly active and strong at the best prices of the day.

Government bonds have been steady.

A WATERLOO VETERAN.

He Still Lives and Tells His Story of the Battle.

New York Times.

John Scott, is an Englishman, still living and still able to do some manual work, who took part in the battle of Waterloo. He is described as a healthy-looking man for his age, rather tall, but with a heavy stoop in his shoulders, which makes him look shorter than he really is. His features are regular, and, though his whiskers are white, there is scarcely a white hair in his head. His employment is not laborious, even for a man who is nearly 85 years of age. His chief work is to ring a bell in the morning, at night and at the meal hours. His personal recollections of the battle in which he took part are confined to what went on immediately around him. Interviewed a short time ago by a reporter of the Newcastle Leader he said:

"My father was a soldier in the Black Watch. I was brought up in the army, and was in Belgium in June, 1815. What I had to do was to play the triangle. I was in the Black Watch, too, but my arms weren't much, just a pistol and a small sword. Quatre Bras was a good deal worse than Waterloo in my opinion. My father spoke Gaelic as well as English, and a lot of the Black Watch spoke Gaelic. But Wellington said he would not have it, for 'by the living God he would have every man speak English.'

"After the battle we got a rest, and then we had to march to Waterloo. About 11 o'clock on the night of the 17th of June it commenced to rain heavily. The rain poured as hard as it could, and what a night that was! It was a potato field we were in, but I wrapped my cloak around me and got a good sleep. I remember I lay just on the side of a little bank, and the water was running down on both sides of me, while in the morning there were two inches of mud around us. At daylight we were up, and each of us got a glass of rum and a ship's biscuit.

"Before the fighting began the Duke of Wellington came riding up to us and cried, 'Now, I hope you are well and ready.' One of our soldiers saluted him and cried, 'Yes, we know our duty.' Wellington smiled and rode off.

"As for the battle I remember very little. It was nothing but fighting and excitement. The Hanoverians were a splendid lot of men, and all of them fought well; but as for the Belgians, if Wellington had only known what they were he would not have given one of them a horse. We were short of horses, and he would have taken theirs and made every man of them tramp on foot. They never fired a shot, for as soon as the first crack was heard they were off as hard as they could go. All day long the fighting went on, but the smoke hung so thick around us that we could see little. There was nothing but firing and shouting on all sides. Sometimes when the smoke lifted we could see fighting going on around us, sometimes in front, or to our right and left, where we could see the cavalry charging each other. Then a lot of horses would come flying across the fields in all directions, neighing and kicking wildly. Their riders were gone; they had been shot out of the saddles, and the horses were galloping madly away to escape. There was an English regiment near us, and I remember seeing the French charge at them. As soon as ever they appeared the English would yell, 'England for ever, here they come, get at them,' and then they cheered, fired away, and off would go the French.

"Sometimes we lay on the ground doing nothing. We could scarcely see twenty yards ahead of us for the smoke, but then we would know something was coming. We would hear the shouting of the French, and out of the smoke they would rush. We shouted and fired straight at them, and away they went and were gone in the smoke again. But they would soon turn, and back they would come with another rush out of the smoke, more firing, and they were gone again. And so it went on all the time. I was not frightened; I was too excited for anything. I played my triangle and shouted 'Scotland forever!' till I was hoarse and could scarcely speak a word. I never got a scratch, but I think it must have been my hight that saved me. I was so little that I had not much risk to run, but the Black Watch was so cut up that it had to join with the Seventy-seventh.

"But the French had no chance that day. They were no match for our army, and the little Frenchmen could not stand the big Englishmen. It was the same with the cavalry, for our men could ride over them. The English could have fought all night, but the French would not let them."

Scott maintains his contempt for the French to the last. "They hate us yet," said he, "but the English beat them at Waterloo, and can always do it."

A Strong Writer.

Arkansaw Traveller.

"Stephen," said the colonel, speaking to an old negro who had come to cut the grass in the yard, "I am told that you intend to give your son a good education."

"Dat's whut I does, sah. I knows whut it is ter struggle erlong widout l'arnin', an' I's 'termined dat my son shan't travel ba'r-foot ober de same flint-rock road dat I did."

"A noble resolution, Stephen. There is something beautiful in the uncultivated mind that has a reverence for knowledge. Is your boy learning rapidly?"

"Ez fast as horse can trot, sah. W'y last week he writ er letter ter his aunt dat libes mo' den twenty miles from yere, an' arter while he gwine write ter his udder aunt dat libes fifty miles erway."

"Why doesn't he write to her now?"

"Oh, he kain't write so fur yit. He ken write twenty miles fust-rate, but, I tole him not ter try ter write fifty miles till he got stronger wid his pen. But he gwine ter git dar, I tell you. Won't be mo'n er year fo' dat boy ken set down at one eend o' de guberment an' write er letter cl'ar ter de udder eend."

THE MIDLAND PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Looking for a Route From Sioux City, Iowa, Through Idaho.

The Salmon City Recorder states that a surveying party in the employ of the Midland Pacific railroad was there, after being three months coming from Sioux City, Iowa. The party divided into two parts—one going down the Salmon river in a boat, and the other over the Lolo trail. They are to meet in Lewiston.

The route selected for this railroad west of the Missouri river is along the north pass of the Black Hills of Dakota, up the Belle Fourche river, crossing the Big Horn mountains through Sioux pass, and the Shoshone range at the head of the north fork of Stinking Water; thence along up the Yellowstone, through Two Ocean pass, down through Jackson's hole, over the Teton mountains, through Teton pass: thence down the Teton river and on via Market lake, up Birch creek, down Lemhi river and valley to Salmon City, thence on down the Salmon river to Lewiston.

The road will be the shortest through line, and will be of incalculable benefit to Idaho, as it will open up a section of country rich in precious metals, heretofore comparatively unknown.

Dyspepsia

Is one of the most prevalent of diseases. Few persons have perfect digestion. One of Ayer's Pills, taken after dinner, or a dose at night before retiring, never fails to give relief in the worst cases, and wonderfully assists the process of nutrition. As a family medicine, Ayer's Pills are unequaled.

James Quinn, 90 Middle st., Hartford, Conn., testifies: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and have always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia."

Lucius Alexander, of Marblehead, Mass., was long a severe sufferer from Dyspepsia, complicated with enlargement of the Liver, most of the time being unable to retain any food in his stomach. Three boxes of Ayer's Pills cured him.

Frederic C. Greener, of East Dedham, Mass., for several months troubled with Indigestion, was cured before he used half a box of these Pills.

THE HIGHLANDS OF OREGON.

Scenes and Incidents Noted in a Journey to Tillamook.

The Ride Over the Mountains—A Driver's Alarming Error—A Melancholy Reminiscence—Beauties of the Forest

TILLAMOOK CITY, OR., Aug 23

Perhaps no part of Oregon has had more rapid growth during the past year than that enjoyed by this county Within that period the tri weekly mail service by way of North Yamhill has developed into a daily carriage, travel has received a marked impetus settlers and speculators have flocked hither and the stamp of improvement has been set upon the land

The overland route to Tillamook leaves the Southern Pacific's West Side division at North Yamhill from whence passengers are conveyed over the mountains by the stage line which has proved utterly inadequate to the increased demands However the deficiency has been met by private conveyances with headquarters both at North Yamhill and in this place

The town of North Yamhill is environed by a magnificent section of the Willamette valley and has grown somewhat in the past year I arrived there Monday forenoon too late for the stage, and had the dolorous experience of being tendered the liberty of the village for an uneventful period of eighteen hours, eleven of which I squandered in the thrilling occupation of holding down an arm-chair with a lignum vita seat upon the porch of the only hotel

"All things come to him who waits By-and-by the sun went down and a tender lunged youth who had been serenading me all day with an alto horn blew himself out on 'Hail, Columbia,' and silence fell upon the broad valley All day long a stiff wind had blown out of the east, and when twilight fell the clouds were all gone save a narrow rim that fringed the distant mountains in the west. Upon this rim the departing sun set a fiery glow In a few moments the gleam of sunlight softened and the clear cut mountains donned their kingly raiment of purple and gold Then Night spread her solemn mantel over all and I went to bed.

At four o clock we were routed out for the long ride over the mountains At two o'clock I had been awakened by the rumble of wheels and a subdued murmur of voices down-stairs, and when I descended to the hotel office the landlord informed me that Mr Bain, of THE OREGONIAN office was lying upon the lounge in the parlor having met with a severe accident while descending the north fork of the Trask I opened the door softly and peered in, The precaution was unnecessary for the sufferer was wide awake bearing his grief and pain like a hero I don t remember ever to have witnessed a more admirable display of fortitude Here was a young man who had spent years in equipping himself for life's duties duties requiring the exercise of every finger and muscle of his hands, and in the twinkling of an eye a portion of one hand had been torn away by a charge of shot. Except for his recital of the facts I should have been unaware of his loss Not a tremor of the voice not a quiver of the facial muscles betrayed the presence of the pain he was bearing so bravely though it had been sixteen hours since the accident, and a surgeon had not dressed the cruel wound

At 4 15 we were speeding away towards the Mountain house for breakfast A chilling current of air rushed out of the west and a cold mist lay in long ragged arms over the valley Slowly the stars faded from the clear dome and the glory of morning was upon the land

There were three conveyances—the mail buckboard carrying three passengers a hack from North Yamhill, bearing five and a light buggy driven by Mr Martin of Tillamook City, in which I was fortunate enough to secure a seat On the road to the Mountain house the driver told me of a somewhat sensational experience he had had recently with an elderly spinster whom he was conveying, with other passengers over the mountain It was at night and he was descending the somewhat perilous grade between the Toll Gate and the Peninsula

"It was as dark as pitch, he said and to know when we were beginning the descent of a hill I had to keep my eye on the leaders, and when they would begin to go down I would reach for the brake. On one of these occasions I hurriedly threw back my arm and grasped what I supposed to be the brake Holy Moses, on a mountain! You ought to have heard the screech that went up The old maid had placed her foot upon the edge of the wagon bed, and in my hurry I had grabbed her by the ankle

"I have been insulted! I have been insulted" she said Is there a gentleman in this hack who will defend a lone woman?

"I saw that I was in for it and stopping the horses told the passengers just how I had made the mistake I had three drummers aboard and I was actually paralyzed when I began to realize that they were going in cold blood to guy the old lady at my expense

"This is a thin story to tell us one of them said

"'Madam' said another you have been cruelly insulted but we will see that it is not repeated

"We ll throw him out of the wagon if he repeats the outrage chipped in the last drummer

"Lookee here ' I said and I was boiling over I was that mad Lookee here you re a pretty set of mashers to talk about a respectable married man insulting a lady' I can whip any drummer that says I insulted this lady!"

"Lemme out Lemme out' shrieked the old maid I ll not ride another foot with this bullying scoundrel!

"She commenced climbing over the wheel and I was so excited that I laid my hand on her own and tried to soothe her B r r r' She flew at me like a wildcat knocked my hat off and tried to horsewhip me

"Then the drummers began to laugh and the poor woman broke down and cried

"Look here said I If there s a spark of manhood in you explain to this lady that you were guying her If you don t I'll horsewhip you and throw you out of the hack

"Madam I said and I was desperate I tell you Madam I have a wife and three children at home, and as for insulting a lady I never did such a thing in my life and wouldn t do it for any money'

She calmed down with that and said

"I believe you are telling me the truth Then she turned to the drummers and said 'If you men cheep to me ag in I ll horse whip you Do you hear me' I ll horse whip you

It was my turn now and I played for even And if you say a word to me I said to them I ll throw you out of this hack They tried to laugh it off but I cracked my long whip and they were as quiet as a clam for the rest of the trip Darn these too drummers

After breakfasting at the Mountain House we began the long ascent of the Coast mountains The air was invigorating the sun shone in many a fantastic pattern through the deep and vocal forest and the winding road free of dust was a thing of beauty Along this route is one of the finest timber probably in the world Larch fir and hemlock predominate with a sprinkling of cedar Many of the taller trees magnificent shafts without limb for 150 feet and straight as an arrow I am convinced were six eight and even ten feet in diameter near the ground

Near the summit we came to Dead Man's hill and the driver pointed out a large tree by the wayside where a poor fellow whom I had known in his happier days perished miserably a few winters ago Beneath this tree he was found a few days later with a bunch of matches by his side showing that he had vainly striven to build a fire but the mountain was buried beneath many feet of snow and he was unequal to the task. Some kindly hand has hewed away the bark of the forest monarch and carved the name of the unfortunate with the date of his death an enduring monument that may survive reflective reader when the marble above our heads shall have fallen in the dust'

* *

These melancholy reflections were soon dissipated by the gay shouts of campers returning from their summer sojourn by the sounding sea A group of merry maidens, with one lonely youth of callow mien came trooping up the mountain ahead of their conveyances, and warned us so that we might turn aside at the first opportunity and permit them to pass We met a number of these during the day and passed others who, like ourselves had been delayed in their vacation.

And now the summit has been passed and we are dashing down the zig zags and later still draw up at the toll gate, where dinner is waiting, and for the present our journey ceases

THE NEW HOTEL'S CARPETS

H F Gullixson Awarded the Contract He Meets With a Strong Competition

A reporter learning that the contract for the carpeting of The Portland had been awarded called on Mr Charles L Leland manager of the hotel yesterday to see who the successful firm was The latter replied

'The contract was awarded to H F Gullixson & Co of this city We had bids from the largest Eastern dealers such as Arnold Constable & Co Sylvester Hilton & Co formerly A T Stewart & Co New York also Marshall Field and the Chicago Carpet Company of Chicago and local dealers I furnished the Delavan house Albany 400 rooms Rossmore, New York 225 rooms Clarendon hotel Saratoga 275 rooms, and I must say they are the handsomest lot of patterns of Bigelow Wiltons and body Brussels also Alexander Smith s moquettes that I have ever seen in fact the other lines of samples submitted did not at all compare with those submitted by Mr Gullixson

Mr H W Corbett president of the Portland Hotel Company also highly complimented this firm on the extensive and handsome lines exhibited remarking that they were the finest patterns he had ever seen

The securing of this contract undoubtedly places the firm of H F Gullixson & Co in the front rank of Portland s merchants and is of credit not only to him but the city of Portland

AT THE THEATERS

'One of the Bravest' at the New Park and Kathleen Mavourneen' at the Musee

Charles McCarthy in his sensational play One of the Bravest began a week's engagement at the New Park last evening to a good house a large and enthusiastic gallery being especially noticeable As a play judged from an artistic point of view One of the Bravest cannot lay claim to any dramatic merit but as a vehicle for the display of certain specialties by a number of clever people and especially for the exhibition of sundry fire escape appliances it is not half bad

The first act shows a representation of a scene on one of the New York docks and introduces the several characters who go to make up the dramatis personæ in a general hurrah melange The second act contains the thrilling fire scene in which a full sized fire engine drawn by two horses tears across the stage amid the clanging of bells the shouts of excited people and the yells of the firemen while Larry the fireman rushes into the burning building and from the midst of crackling timbers and falling walls rescues the frightened inmates This scene is realistic in the extreme and admirably handled The last act shows the interior of a Chinese laundry and opium joint combined and introduces the hero in the role of a Chinaman

Mr Charles McCarthy as Larry gives a neat rendition of the single hearted fireman and does rather a clever piece of character acting as the Chinaman His rescue of the inmates of the burning building was greeted with shouts of delight from the gods and was a thrilling situation William Cronin does some most amusing work as the Widow Grogan and H S Parker as the Tiger was about as villainous a looking villain as one could wish to see George Reynolds gave a capital rendering of the darkey Pete and Add Weaver as Old 41 was also good as was also Frank Casey as Eats

Miss Estelle Wellington is a very clever dancer and does the part of Rosie Grogan in a Chicago style quite in keeping with the character of her surroundings

One of the Bravest again to night

CORDRAY'S MUSEE THEATER

The Irish domestic drama of Kathleen Mavourneen' was put on the stage last night and for a first performance went off very well The play though interesting is a strange conception the dramatic part being a dream of the heroine Kathleen O Connor in which from a poor girl she is raised to a rich lady Excepting in one or two characters there is little opportunity to make a hit Miss Lessie Tittel as the heroine showed her usual good judgment in bringing out the salient points of the peasant girl and the broken hearted rich wife representing well the peculiar jollity of the one and the passionate grief of the other She was repeatedly applauded Mr Caine as Bernard Kavanaugh acted with his usual good taste and effect and Mr Philleo as David O Connor was quite acceptable all through Beyond these there is no character of prominence The house was packed full as usual with an appreciative audience The play will draw well for the week

The new attractions of the musee the Blacks and Perkins the banjoist as well as the bearded lady entertained the audience in their best manner

HOLLADAY'S INDEMNITY CLAIM

General Rufus Ingalls, Executor of the Estate, Purchases it for $750

Mr James Steel administrator of the estate of the late Ben Holladay sold at public auction in front of the courthouse yesterday morning the claim of Holladay against the government of $300 000 for Indian depredations committed on his overland stage during the time the red skins were so troublesome General Rufus Ingalls executor of the estate of Mrs Esther Holladay purchased the claim for $750 and will endeavor to get something out of it for Ben and Linda Holladay

The original claim of Holladay presented the government was for $600 000 and it is said President Lincoln at that time promised to see that it was paid but he came to his death before he could do anything in the matter

Subsequently the United States court reduced the claim to $300 000 but its passage never came to a vote At one time the government offered Ben Holladay $100 000 for his demand but he refused to accept the compromise Last winter Senator Stewart of Nevada during a visit to this city told Mrs Esther Holladay that if she would present the claim as her own exclusive of all other alleged interested persons the senate would report a $100 000 bill in her favor but in the meantime she died

General Ingalls thinks that by putting the matter before congress in the light that whatever sum is appropriated will go to the children and not the innumerable creditors of the estate he will yet secure something on it Others think the claim worthless as it has dragged along so long that now it has virtually become a dead letter It is hoped however that the general will meet with success

CAMP FOR CRAIG MOUNTAIN Aug 21

Stretched out on a monster bearskin with a coal oil box for a table and being tired of the chase I assume to pass away the somewhat monotonous time in camp by sending you a rather hurried and brief sketch of this portion of Idaho not altogether unknown to fame as it is in the near vicinity of General Howard s recent trouble with Joseph and his band of Indians

Craig mountain (named after an old mountaineer and trapper of considerable distinction in this section but now dead) is situated about twenty miles southeast of Lewiston and has of late become a favorite resort of the heat stricken people of that place

Speaking of Craig I heard an amusing incident that occurred between him and the late William Newell the agent of the Nez Perces Indians The latter gentleman had pretensions for delegate to congress and Craig being a particular friend he was confided in to give all assistance possible Both occupied the same room in the hotel in Lewiston and after turning in for the night both were wrapped in the arms of Morpheus Suddenly on awaking Mr N roused his roommate and excitedly remarked Craig I am going to congress in spite of ——

Craig being somewhat provoked at his sudden awakening replied Yes my old friend you ll go to —— in spite of congress and turned over and went to sleep

At the present time sheepmen have taken up a great deal of this mountain range with their herds and it makes it very bad for other stock as sheep destroy more range than they consume as food There are at least 15 000 head on this range It also makes it bad for hunters as sheep and desirable game do not graze on the same range to any extent

Very heavy and damaging fires are raging to the south and east of us nearly the entire length of Craig mountain which is a part of the Blue mountain range Thousands of acres of both government and reservation lands are being devastated by fire and unless a good rain comes to the relief there is no telling where it will end The finest grazing fields in the world are here but as I ride over the mountain nothing is left to view but a barren waste caused by the ravaging element

After getting away from the sheep and cattle range game is abundant Bear deer black grouse and pheasant are the most sought after by the hunter but who at frequent intervals (too frequent for the writer) run across the path of the mountain lion cougar wild cat lynx and mountain wolf We are nearly every night regaled by coyote bands much to the disgust of one who is tired and wants sleep Innumerable species of birds are denizens of these forests twitting and flitting through the umbrageous branches and in fact a person cannot find a better place to spend his outing than Craig mountain

Being of a somewhat venturesome disposition I concluded to try navigating the mountain tops and yawning canyons on my own hook and in my endeavor to find game I meandered too far away from home and became belated and had to tie up in a sequestered and desolate spot at the foot of a pine tree and wait for the dawn It was a lonely place but the monotony of my position was suddenly broken by the hoo hoo ooo of a number of what proved to be owls of very large size Not content with their dismal serenade they made a bold plan of attack and before I had time to realize their numbers or object one of these wild eyed birds (thinking no doubt I was an intruder) made one fell swoop into my camp and almost into my face then another and another until at last not less than a full dozen dashed directly into my face Seeing that a plan of action must be at once formed I resorted to a scheme of defense and as the heretofore considered inoffensive birds persisted in their attack I gathered up a good sized club and started in on the plan of annihilation It being so dark that I could not use my gun I wielded my club in good Hibernian style and in less than ten minutes I had seven of these wise looking birds at my feet Then all was silent but not serene for as I was taking the wings from my dead combatants I heard the dreaded growl of a panther I hastily built or replenished my smouldering fire and watchfully and patiently waited for morning to dawn As soon as possible I started for our camp and after tramping for three long hours I arrived with my trophies and as tired and hungry a man as you would wish to see

Considerable interest and speculation is manifested here about the opening of the reservation for settlement When this is done a vast number of farms as fine as any on the coast will be taken up and in a short time a thickly settled part of Idaho will be represented where now is nothing but wild ranges for cattle and horses

Haying is going on in different sections of this mountainous country vast meadows ranging from one half mile in width to ten miles in length may be found The grass is abundant and of a very fair quality These meadows are safe from fire as the ground is damp the sides being dotted and bordered by numberless springs of pure cold water

The large and small streams of this region have run very low more so than for years back Some of the small streams are entirely dry Snake river navigation is very difficult the boat only making her way from Riparia to Lewiston by lining over the swift and shoal bars

WHAT ARE THESE 'DIFFERENTIALS?'

Shipping Machinery a Long Way Around From the East

The machinery etc mentioned in the San Francisco dispatches yesterday as having been shipped from the East by the Canadian Pacific and from Vancouver to Yaquina by way of San Francisco consisted of one dump car for depositing stone on the jetties and the ironwork for nineteen similar cars which will be built at Yaquina The contract for this material delivered at Yaquina was awarded to the Taylor iron works High Bridge N J and neither the government nor Captain Young United States engineer who has charge of the government works at Yaquina had anything to do with shipping it

It is strange that this material can be carried from New Jersey to Canada thence across the Canadian Pacific railroad to Vancouver and thence by way of San Francisco to Yaquina cheaper than it could be shipped by all rail routes from New Jersey to Yaquina without any transhipments It is said the Canadian Pacific is enabled to do this on account of its differentials

There are a number of people who would like to know what these differentials are

Take the Northern Pacific railroad the vestibuled sleeper and dining car route to all points East Office No 1 First street corner Washington

Pyle's Pearline possesses peculiar purifying properties

Hot Weather is the very best time to try Pyle's Pearline. Then the wash is largest, and a saving of time and toil is best appreciated. Think of doing a large wash with little or no rubbing Consider how much longer your delicate summer clothing will last if not rubbed to pieces on a washboard A saving is a gain You'll be surprised and pleased with the cleanliness, satisfaction and comfort which comes of the use of PEARLINE Simple—any servant can use it Perfectly harmless—you can soak your finest linen and laces in Pearline and water for a month, with safety Delightful in the bath—makes the water soft Perhaps you have been using some of the imitations and have sore hands and find your clothing going to pieces. Moral—use the original and best
